House Gets Money Bill On Defense

Speedy Approval Set On Measure, Probes Continue

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House made way today for quick consideration of a $548,226,000 emergency Air Force construction bill. Backers predicted approval with little debate of the measure which, among other things, would authorize a start on construction of the country's third base for intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Various other missile projects, a defensive warning system against missiles, and dispersal of bomber bases also would be authorized under the measure, a part of the speeded-up defense plans developed to offset Russian missile progress.

Probe Continued

Both Senate and House committees, meanwhile, continued separate probes of the nation's overall defense status, and partisans in and out of Congress sought to assess political blame for the situation.

The bill before the House, taken up only eight days after Congress convened, was one of the most swiftly handled major bills in recent years. The Senate still must act. The measure is a preliminary to a $1,260,000,000 supplemental money bill which also must be passed by both houses to be effective.

Chairman Vinson of the House Armed Services Committee said the authorization measure, backed by President Eisenhower, is true emergency legislation for two reasons.

These, Vinson said in a statement for the House Rules Committee, are, "first, the items in the bill are in themselves of the highest priority, and in the second place, a prompt approval of this bill now will save up to one year on construction time."

Vinson explained that if the construction projects had to wait for consideration of the President's regular budget proposals, outdoor building weather this year might be past in some localities before the work could be well started.

Chairman Mahon (D-Tex.) of the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee issued a statement deploring what he called Republican efforts "to make partisan politics out of the defense program."

Martin's Remarks Hit

Referring specifically to remarks made by House Republican Leader Martin (Mass.), Mahon said he would "have no part of any attempt to make our defense program a political football."

Mahon quoted a televised interview last Sunday in which Martin said Democrats voted almost unanimously in the last session of Congress against a GOP motion "to restore a little over 300 million dollars" for missile programs.

The actual facts, Mahon said, are that Congress last year "did not cut the Department of Defense request for ballistic missiles by one penny. It did not reduce any requests for missiles by the Army and the Navy. It did cut the request for nonballistic missiles in the Air Force by 75 million dollars. The Air Force has since made a further reduction in the nonballistic missile program . . . in the sum of 100 millions."

Told of Mahon's statement, Martin indicated he would reply to it later.

Jayne And Mate Will Appear In Las Vegas Show

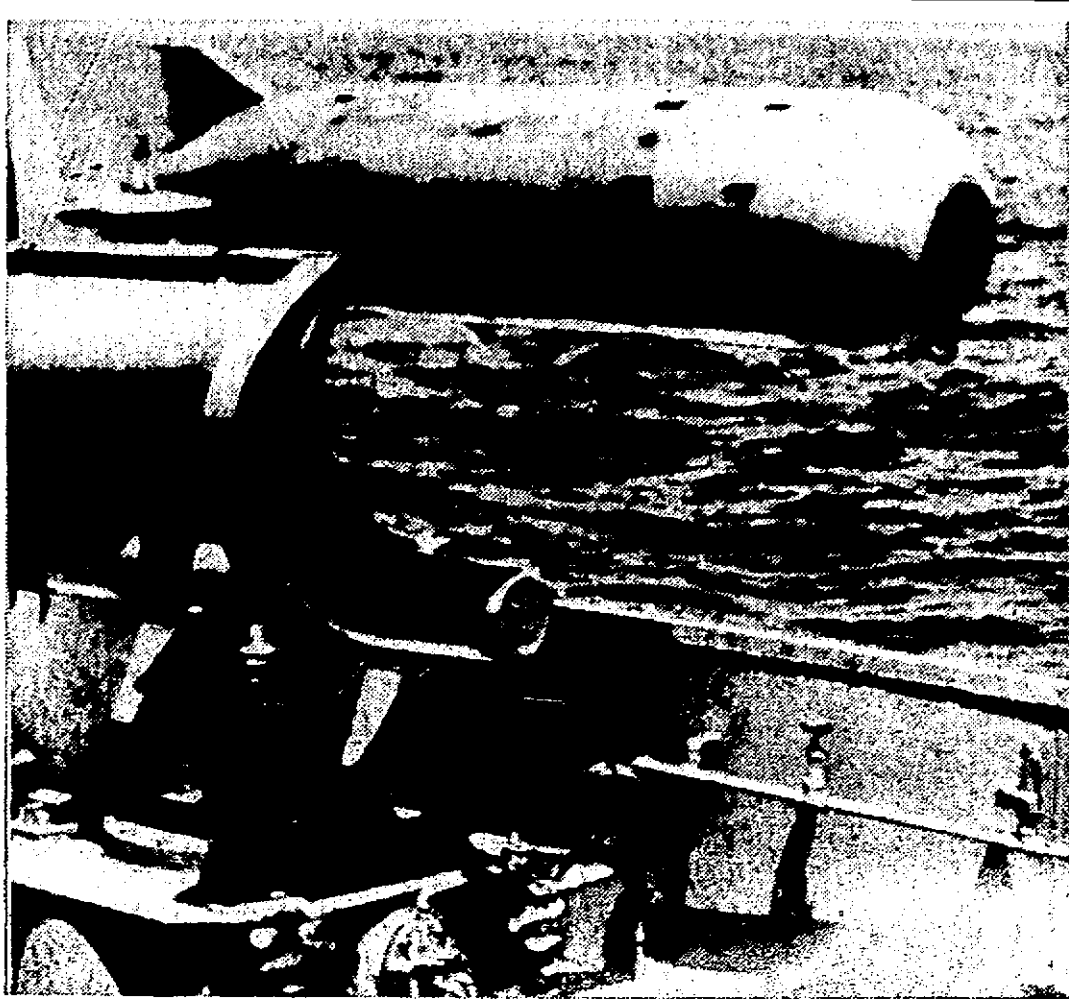

DALLAS (AP)—Jayne Mansfield, a bright-eyed actress who didn't let grandpa's fortune keep her from dipping into Hollywood's golden coffers, flies out of her home town today with her new husband.

Jayne and her Hungarian-born bridegroom Mickey Hargitay, 29, are off for a honeymoon at Miami after a hectic two days of wedding activities. The 24-year-old actress and her muscular bridegroom, a onetime "Mr. Universe," will open a night club engagement Feb. 7 in Las Vegas.

West Virginians Plan Show On TV

WASHINGTON (AP)—West Virginians in Washington will appear on an hour-long television program Friday night (WMAL, Channel 7, starting at 11:20 p. m. EST), arranged by the West Virginia Society of Washington.

Miss Ann Tierney of Bluefield will be presented as West Virginia's Cherry Blossom princess for 1958. She has been selected by the society and will compete with other state princesses for queen of Washington's annual Cherry Blossom Festival.

NEW ACOUSTIC-HOMING TORPEDO — The U. S. Navy's latest acoustic-homing torpedo, the XX 32, now in use with surface units, is being tossed over the side of a ship from an open launcher, in this photo released today. (See story below) (AP Photofax)

Navy Reveals Torpedoes To Combat Subs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy announced today that two new lightweight torpedoes — designed to seek out their targets by following sounds — have been delivered to the fleet.

Known as the Mark 32 and the Mark 43, the torpedoes are the first of a new series developed by the Navy in its stepped-up concentration on antisubmarine warfare.

The Mark 43 can be launched from either surface ships or aircraft. The Mark 32 is designed for ship launching only.

The Navy said the Mark 43 weighs only about an eighth as much as aerial torpedoes used in World War II. It is about 4 feet long and 10 inches in diameter.

Rear Adm. F. S. Withington, chief of the Bureau of Ordnance, said the Mark 43 is "actually a submersible guided missile and is capable of searching to great depths for enemy targets." It is propelled by an electric motor powered by a battery.

First Baby Born To Couple After 8 Died In Crash

SIGOURNEY, Iowa (AP)—Myron Richard Hammes, 1 day old, is going to get a lot of spoiling from his daddy.

The infant is the first child born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hammes since a train-auto collision Oct. 23, 1956, in which all eight of their children were fatally injured.

Mrs. Hammes, 39, and the baby were "doing fine," said the 47-year-old father.

Myron Richard weighed 10 pounds 2 ounces.

Kansas City School Crime Poses Threat

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The superintendent of Kansas City's schools, searching for a way to quell violence and crime in high schools, says he'll seek authority to suspend unruly pupils for a semester.

Suspensions now are limited by school board regulation to 10 days. Supt. James A. Hazlett asked his supervisors to take swift action against pupils who misbehave persistently.

"We're not going to let acute and chronic cases interfere with our work," he declared.

Hazlett already had taken steps to expel pupils caught carrying a weapon or extorting money from other pupils. He also promised

Paper Claims AFL-CIO Has Slashed Staff

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times quoted informed sources today as saying the AFL-CIO has abolished nearly 100 or "organizers' jobs."

Some of the organizers are being retired involuntarily, some are being transferred to a new speakers' bureau that is being set up in the public relations department and a substantial number are being discharged, the newspaper said in a Washington dispatch.

The Times story continued: One of those reported discharged is Robert Christofferson of Charlotte, N.C., leader of the new organizers' union that has been fighting for recognition in the AFL-CIO.

In addition, a number of other employees in the headquarters building are being laid off.

The sweeping entrenchment takes effect Feb. 1, about the time AFL-CIO leaders will be gathering in Miami Beach to consider a $1,200,000 a year public relations program.

GI Pay Hike Bill Offered

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has sent to Congress a military pay bill which would give most service personnel a raise of at least six per cent, and also provide for merit increases.

The bill was introduced in the House by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee, shortly after the White House disclosed details of administration proposals for boosting pay of postal and civil service workers, as well as service personnel.

The raises for all groups would cost about a billion dollars annually. The administration wants the raises to become effective July 1.

Churchill Keeps Reporters Away, Starts Vacation

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill flew to the Riviera today for his annual winter vacation and gave airport reporters no chance to question him about his actress daughter Sarah's arrest as a drunk in California.

Churchill's black sedan pulled up at the airport's VIP lounge, where newsmen could have approached him. As his chauffeur started to open the door, the 83-year-old statesman glared and shook his head, then slouched in the back seat and read newspapers.

When the plane was ready for taking, the chauffeur drove Churchill to the foot of the passenger stairway leading to the plane.

White Group Indicted For Negro Attack

GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP)—A Greenville County grand jury has indicted 11 white men in the flogging of a Negro farmer who was taking care of his white neighbor's children.

The grand jury indicted the men yesterday in the July 1, 1957, beating of Claud Cruell, 58, at his 100-acre farm near here.

Solicitor James R. Mann indicated he may call the case to trial next Tuesday.

Cruell and his wife were caring for the seven children of a white neighbor when the incident occurred. The children of Sherwood Turner, 34, had been brought to the Cruell home while Turner took his wife to a hospital.

All 11 men were indicted for conspiracy to commit assault and battery of a high and aggravated nature and for conspiracy to housebreak. Five of them also were indicted for assault and battery and for house-breaking.

Mrs. Cruell said the men forced their way into the home and chain-whipped her husband. Cruell recovered from the injuries.

Mrs. Cruell said the men told her they were mad because she and her husband were taking care of white children. She quoted them as saying she and her husband had been "trying to mix with white people."

She was not injured, but she said the men forced her to ride several miles with them and she had to walk home barefooted.

Atom Carrier Crash Details Kept Secret

No Explosion Followed In Plane Plunge

Air Force Silent On Date, Location Of Bomber Crash

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government would give no details today on its brief admission that at least one plane carrying a nuclear weapon crashed without exploding the weapon.

The Pentagon, apparently acting after consultation with other government agencies, refused to say where or when the accident occurred or to say whether more than one such incident might have occurred.

Officials Keep Mum

However, there was growing belief that the accident mentioned by the Air Force Monday occurred within the last year in the continental United States and involved a B47 medium bomber.

Air Force spokesmen declined to answer a question about that possibility and had general "no comment" when asked about other accidents.

The pilot and copilot of a B29 which crashed and burned Aug. 5, 1957, in California confirmed that their craft was carrying the outer casing of an atomic bomb which did not explode. But they could not say whether the Air Force announcement referred to that crash.

The pilot, Lt. Col. E. Q. Steffes Jr., said in Washington, "There was no possibility of an atomic explosion and there was none. In that form it (the bomb) was not capable of a nuclear explosion. It was just a certain quantity of TNT."

Lacked Vital Component

The copilot was Capt. Carter W. Johnson, now at Ellsworth Air Force Base, Rapid City, S. D. Like Steffes, he said the weapon lacked the vital component to explode it. Johnson, now a B52 bomber pilot, said the explosion and fire which followed the plane crash stemmed from the fuel tanks.

"You can assure everybody that while the shape and weight of atomic bombs may be carried, there is no danger of a nuclear explosion because that hush-hush part is always missing on training flights," he said.

Solons Back Johnson Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four senators, all former U. N. delegates, endorsed today a proposal that members of the world organization be invited to join in a program aimed at manning space for peace.

They did not indicate whether they thought Russia would go along with the idea, put forth by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.).

Senators Humphrey (D-Minn.), Sparkman (D-Ala.), H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) and Cooper (R-Ky.) voiced approval in separate interviews of Johnson's suggestion, which would include also a broad exchange of satellite information.

He estimated that Curtice and other executives received a total of 635 million dollars in the 10 years between 1947 and 1956 under the plan.

Fourth Wife's Ruckus Threat Fails To Mar Star's Wedding

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—I kept looking toward the door all day during the ceremony for fear that other since 1945.

Debra Paget and singer David Street were married last night in a quiet home ceremony, despite reports that his fourth wife—the one he married and divorced last month—might cause a ruckus.

Mrs. Maggie Griffin, mother of the shapely Debra, told a reporter that dancer Sharon Lee had called her several times yesterday threatening to disrupt the marriage.

"I wasn't the least bit nervous about losing a daughter," said Mrs. Griffin, "because I gained such a wonderful son-in-law. But

Trudeau Says U. S. Can Surpass Soviet

TOKYO (AP)—The U. S. Army's new chief of research and development, Lt. Gen. Arthur Gilbert Trudeau, declared today that recent Soviet weapons gains are nothing "we can't compete with or surpass."

Trudeau, a corps commander in Korea, told a news conference he learned only this morning that he had been chosen to replace Lt. Gen. James Gavin as the Army's research chief.

He will take over the Pentagon post April 1, one day after Gavin's retirement becomes official. Trudeau said he hopes to inject a "vigorous attitude" into America's missile and weapons program, "to destroy or at least reduce the complacency with which this situation has been viewed."

Trudeau, 55, sidestepped a question on consolidating the present U. S. chiefs of staff system under one head.

On whether the three services could jointly research missiles under one command, Trudeau said reports of interservice development rivalry were "greatly exaggerated." Amalgamating research by the three services "is a problem which needs searching study on the parts of all concerned," he added.

A long-time Army engineer, Trudeau has had little direct experience in weapon planning. He stressed, however, that he had been "intimately concerned" with U. S. programs in weapon research in former posts.

Gavin announced his retirement after sharply criticizing missile policy, the Joint Chiefs of Staff setup and Army appropriations before a Senate committee.

Ten Missing After Storm

AMSTERDAM (AP)—Ten crew members of the 9,974-ton Norwegian tanker Seistrad were reported missing today in the Mediterranean after a storm broke the vessel in two.

The report was received from the 8,274-ton Dutch freighter Bintang which rescued 15 sailors from the tanker.

Capt. A. C. W. Latour of the Bintang messaged his company that another 12 Norwegian crew members still were on the aft portion of the ship. He was trying to rescue them too.

She is Street's fifth wife, although he says he has been married only four times, "one of my wives got an annulment instead of a divorce. That doesn't count."

Eisenhower Will Oppose Tax Increase

Says His Economic Advisers Look For Business Recovery

By MARVIN LARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he would prefer a reasonable amount of deficit spending this year to a tax increase.

The President, at his first news conference in 2½ months, said he believes some red ink spending would be the only answer under present circumstances if it came to a choice between that and a tax increase in order to handle the proposed new federal budget.

In that connection, Eisenhower noted that his economic advisers are predicting an upturn from the current business recession.

Tax Collections Drop

Eisenhower was discussing the $73,900,000,000 budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 which he sent to Congress Monday.

On paper, it is narrowly in balance with a forecast of a surplus of half a billion dollars based on anticipated tax revenues.

A 400 million dollar deficit now is in prospect for the current fiscal year, because tax collections have fallen with the decline in business prosperity while spending for defense has gone up.

This was Eisenhower's first news conference since Oct. 30. He suffered a minor stroke on Nov. 25.

In reply to questions about his health at this time, he said with a smile that he is feeling very good and would like to get out on the golf course for a couple hours if only there were some sun.

His face was ruddy as of old, and the consensus of the 270 newsmen was that he handled himself well.

There was one instance, near the start of the 30-minute session, when Eisenhower appeared to "fluff" a word or two. But there was no more of that—and quite possibly there was less—than before the slight stroke which manifested itself by a temporary speech difficulty.

Eisenhower said he never gave any consideration to resigning after his latest illness. He touched off a round of laughter by adding that his doctors were assuring him a couple hours after the minor stroke that—as the President put it—there was no damage whatever to the intellectual faculties he has.

Turning serious, Eisenhower went on to say that if ever his doctors should tell him that he was unable to carry on the duties of the presidency, he would have no recourse except to resign.

Gives View On Parley Bid

Eisenhower also discussed these other matters:

SUMMIT—Eisenhower said—as he did in his message to Soviet Premier Bulganin last weekend—that there must be adequate advance preparation before he would agree to any new summit conference with the Russians. He said the preliminary steps probably should include meetings at the ambassadorial level and of the foreign ministers of the countries to be represented at any such conference.

In reply to a question, Eisenhower said he has given no thought whatever to including Red China and its satellites in any summit conference.

GAITHER REPORT — Eisenhower said he has no intention whatever of ever releasing the administration's Gaither report on the state of the nation's defenses and the prospect for the future. That report, drawn up by a committee of advisers named by the President, reportedly cautions

Nine Victims Identified In Plane Plunge

PATUXENT, Md. (AP)—Three officers and six enlisted men were killed yesterday when a four-engine Navy plane crashed and exploded at Patuxent Naval Air Station.

Fog and mist had reduced visibility to about half a mile when the R V super-constellation lurched in on its second pass over the field, just clearing a housing area and ploughed a quarter-mile strip through thin woods.

It erupted into a ball of flame when it hit the ground.

The victims were being trained for flying duty on the Distant Early Warning radar network.

Patuxent and the Navy Department in Washington identified the dead as:

Cdr. William H. Lamar Jr., Patuxent, plane commander.

Cdr. Richard H. Hart, Patuxent, Lt. (j.g.) Harry G. Morgan Jr., Little Ferry, N. J.

Aircontrolman Second Class Vito A. Paulauskas, Lawrence, Mass.

that the United States is fast losing military superiority to Russia.

DULLES — Eisenhower vigorously labeled as trash reports that Secretary of State Dulles might resign. He said Dulles is the last person he would want to see resign, and added that he regards the Cabinet officer as the wisest and most dedicated man he knows.

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY — A reporter noted that Eisenhower will observe his fifth anniversary in office next Monday. The past five years, the newsmen said, have produced for Eisenhower such crises as the Little Rock school integration situation, Russia's satellite and the rise of Nikita Khrushchev as Communist party boss in the Soviet Union.

The reporter asked then for the President's views of those problems and for a forecast of the future.

Eisenhower responded that he intends to carry on in the three remaining years of his term exactly as he has during the first five years.

In an obvious allusion as to whether he will live out the term, Eisenhower said the future is in the lap of the Gods.

The first five years, he said, have not been very much rougher than he had anticipated. He felt at the start that world problems would increase, and at the same time was determined that America's liberties had to be maintained.

Army Studies Data In Redstone Firing

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Army checked over tape and photographic records of a nighttime launching of its big Redstone missile today for clues that might help it put an American-style Sputnik into an orbit.

The Redstone was sent up into a starlit, cloudless, moonless sky from the Air Force missile test center here last night.

Photographic and recording devices at island stations along the missile test range extending out into the Atlantic registered detailed information on how the missile performed.

The Redstone is considerably more than the Army's biggest—and first operational—ballistic missile. A Redstone will be the first stage of the huge Jupiter-C test vehicle.

With this device the Army hopes, before another month, to send up an earth satellite.

The Redstone, 69 feet long and 6 feet in diameter, lifted sluggishly from its launching pad, in fiery sheets of exhaust fumes and with an earth-shaking roar.

It climbed vertically, at a rapidly accelerating pace, for thousands of feet. Then it arched at a slight angle toward the southeast, still very much on the up-grade.

Its tremendous flaming tail diminished steadily, and for more than a minute before disappearing entirely it resembled a winking red star among the many paler stars in the clear sky.

Unlike most other missiles fired here at night, the Redstone's flight path was marked by a trail of bright white flashes—stroboscopic lights to help the cameras follow its course through the sky.

The Defense Department, announcing the launching minutes after the takeoff, gave no indication of the distance flown or the target assigned. It said only that the flight was normal.

The Redstone, powered by a liquid-propellant engine, has considerably exceeded its designed range of 200 to 250 miles. A Jupiter-C vehicle with a Redstone as the first of its three stages flew 3,500 miles over the Atlantic.

The Redstone is being produced by Chrysler Corp. at Detroit. Its engine is manufactured by Rocketdyne Division of North American Aviation, Los Angeles.

ed in the face of a tremendous threat to their existence, he said.

GAVIN — The resignation of Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin as the Army's chief of research and development was a personality matter, Eisenhower said. He added that Gavin had a right to quit.

Gavin had decided to quit at the end of March because of policy differences regarding the defense program.

DEFENSE REORGANIZATION — The President, who has promised a reorganization of the defense setup, declined to answer questions about his plans. He said he would not disclose details in advance of his special message to Congress.

He did say his aims are completely objective, and he noted that he will remain as commander in chief for no more than the next three years.

Asked whether he intends to fight for his defense reorganization plans, Eisenhower replied that he is striving to put an effective plan before Congress. He said he expects the plan to touch off arguments, but his views will be expressed as best he can.

POLITICS — In his belief, Eisenhower said, the solidarity of the Republican party is far stronger than some people believe. He made that statement when asked to what extent he intends to engage in the party drive to recapture control of Congress in this year's election. The reporter putting the question noted that Eisenhower is scheduled to kick off that drive in a speech at a Chicago GOP rally next Monday night.

Without ever providing a specific answer, Eisenhower said the political philosophy he lives by is one he believed in long before he ever got personally into politics. He said he also believes that Republicans generally believe in that same philosophy.

Rebel Forces Escape After Raid On Port

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Rebel forces of Fidel Castro withdrew safely to their mountain hideouts late yesterday after a bold daylight raid on the sugar port of Manzanillo.

The Cuban army made no comment on the attack. President Fulgencio Batista's forces say they want to meet Castro's guerrillas in an open fight, but they reported no action to counter the young revolutionist's foray on the southeast coast, at the foot of the Sierra Maestra.

For most of the day rebel bands blockaded all roads and railroads into the city of 100,000 while they searched for politicians and army officers marked by Castro as "enemies of the people."

They burned sugar cane fields, automobiles and buses, looted food warehouses and smashed equipment, and attacked guard posts.

They also carried off some prisoners, but how many was not reported.

Auto Workers Plan To Hike Strike Funds

DETROIT (AP)—Delegates to the United Auto Workers special convention next week will be asked to set up a strike fund for use if forthcoming contract talks fail, a UAW spokesman said.

The union said benefits from the fund will be based on "right" instead of "need," as in the past, with strikers receiving a uniform weekly payment. Payments formerly have varied with individual requirements.

The UAW said establishment of the fund probably will mean an increase in monthly dues among its 1,200,000 members.

The present strike fund totals nearly 24 million dollars, the union said.

Sarah Churchill Wins Praise, Show Goes On

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—They were belting actress Sarah Churchill wouldn't make it.

When the daughter of Great Britain's Sir Winston Churchill entered NBC's huge television studio at 5:30 a. m. yesterday, a stagehand watching her arrival murmured: "That took guts."

At noon, Miss Churchill's wan face was submitted to the glaring lights and searching eye of the television camera in an hour long play, "The Makropoulos Secret."

She gave one of the best performances of her life, critics said.

Many TV viewers also believed it "took guts" for the actress to appear. Less than 24 hours before arrival at the station, she had been a temporary inmate of county jail.

She had been arrested on a drunk charge after sheriff's deputies accused her of using profane language over the telephone.

The arrest was accompanied by kicking, scuffling and tearing of clothes, the officers said.

Miss Churchill goes into court tomorrow to answer the misdemeanor charge.

Soon after she was bailed out, she headed for the TV studio and rehearsed five hours.

Labor Group Defers Action On AFL-CIO Ouster Order

The Western Maryland Labor Council last night complied with one AFL-CIO directive and deferred action until next month on a second.

The council, which represents some 4,000 AFL-CIO members in this area, admitted to membership local bakery workers who recently voted to join the new AFL-CIO sponsored Bakers union.

Local 298, Bakery and Confectionery Workers of America, unanimously voted late in December to affiliate with the American Bakery and Confectionery Workers International Union, AFL-CIO, which was set up to succeed the ousted union.

The area AFL-CIO council deferred action until its February 11 meeting on another AFL-CIO order to expel locals of the Teamsters Union.

At a meeting last week in Washington, the Maryland-District of Columbia AFL-CIO Council expelled all Teamsters locals but allowed its president, teamster Harry Cohen, to resign.

Left as a vice president of the State AFL-CIO Council was C. E. Stutzman, of Cumberland, and four other Teamster vice presidents.

Stutzman was elected recently as secretary of the Western Maryland council.

Delegates voted to support the stand taken by a five-man state AFL-CIO committee which was named to study a proposal to increase Blue Cross rates 22 per cent.

The order was directed at the 1,600 member Teamsters Local 453 here.

Officials said action is being deferred here since the action taken by the state AFL-CIO Council was not clear, and that the delay will allow time to get clarification, but is in "good" condition.

State Workshop Being Attended By County Trio

Three Allegany County representatives will go to College Park today to attend a three-day communications workshop, one of three planned this winter by the State Extension Service.

The aim of the workshops is to instruct county agents and home demonstration agents in better ways to get information to the public concerning the University of Maryland's College of Agriculture.

County Agent Joseph M. Steger, James Arnold, his assistant, and Miss Mary Wise, home demonstration agent, are attending the workshop that will continue through Friday.

Attending also will be representatives from Garrett, Washington, Frederick, Carroll and Baltimore counties and Baltimore City. The first workshop started Monday and the third one will get under way February 12.

The next testing date scheduled for Cumberland is March 15, when pupils may take either the scholastic aptitude tests or achievement tests or both types of tests, which will be given at Allegany High School.

John R. Snyder, guidance counselor at Allegany, supervised the test, assisted by Robert Hutcheson and Carleton Shore, both Allegany teachers.

One junior and one college student took the test Saturday along with 55 seniors.

Also, Carol Eaton, Catherine Rowman, Paul Gift and Donald McCombs, all Bruce High School seniors; Brenda Waite, Sandra George, Ira Riley, John Dean, David Rowley, William Mathoney, Jeffrey Getz, James Diggs, James Diehl, and John Grove, all of Fort Hill High School; Joseph Wilhelm, Richard Garfitt and William Bolt, all of LaSalle High School; Patricia Sherman and Joyce Mullan, both Catholic Girls Central; Peggy Howsare, Sara Krontz, Cletis Beegle and E. Peters, all Bedford (Pa.) High School; Mary Ann Topper, Hyndman-Londonderry (Pa.) High School; Judith Hockman, Paw Paw, W. Va.; Elizabeth Pancake, Romney, W. Va., and Cynthia Nace, Southern Garrett High School.

The junior who took the test is Nancy Ebert of Allegany and the high school graduate is William Kolberg, a St. Peter's High School of Westernport graduate who now attends Potomac State College.

The College Board tests are graded by the Educational Testing Service. The College Board is composed of 184 colleges and 33 secondary schools and other educational associations.

Teachers Meeting

The Allegany County Teachers Association will meet today at 7:45 p. m. at Parkside Elementary School in LaVale.

57 Students Take College Entrance Test

Series Of Exams Being Offered In County Schools

A total of 57 students of the area took the College Entrance Examination Board's scholastic aptitude test Saturday at Allegany High School.

This board offers a program of tests which are required for admission by many colleges. The tests consist of the three-hour scholastic aptitude test and a series of one-hour achievement tests.

The tests are administered on several scheduled dates during the year at testing centers throughout this country and overseas. Candidates register for the tests in advance, take the tests at centers most convenient for them and have their test scores reported to any college or university. The scores may also be reported to sponsors of scholarship programs.

The next testing date scheduled for Cumberland is March 15, when pupils may take either the scholastic aptitude tests or achievement tests or both types of tests, which will be given at Allegany High School.

Local Store, Bridge Damaged By Fires

A grocery store on Fifth Street and the new bridge being constructed across Wills Creek at Baltimore Street were damaged yesterday by fire.

The fire at the small one-story grocery located at 309 Fifth Street, broke out about 10:25 p. m. and South End firemen were the first on the scene.

Later, firemen from Central Fire Station went to give assistance but returned to their station when it was learned South End had the blaze under control.

Firemen said the cause of the fire was undetermined and it was not known how much damage was caused or the amount of property loss.

The store is operated by Mrs. Ruth M. Lewis, 245 East Offit Street, and is owned by Mrs. W. M. Courtney, of 523 Memorial Avenue, who said that the building is covered by insurance.

Central and West Side checked a two-alarm blaze yesterday afternoon at the east end of the new bridge being constructed across Wills Creek on Baltimore Street.

Traffic was tied up along the temporary bridge for about half an hour as firemen brought the flames under control. They said two 50-gallon oil heaters being used to keep newly-poured concrete from freezing were blamed for the fire which burned canvas placed over the concrete forms.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Military Problems

THE DEBATE in this country over inter-service rivalries is waxing hotter than it has been for some years. As so often occurs in heated discussion, misconceptions have crept in and are clouding our efforts to arrive at sound public judgments. Some proposals for improvement of the Pentagon setup run to extremes, while there are other men who argue that things should be left just about as they are. In defense of the latter position, however, at least one lawmaker has entered what many will regard as a questionable argument. This is that we won World War II with a divided command and that should stand as proof of its superiority.

THE CONVERSE of this statement was, of course, that the Germans had a unified super-command and lost the war. For one thing, it has not been established that we won and the Germans lost because of the respective differences in command structure. This looks like a vast simplifying of the factors involved in winning a war. For a second, that was World War II, and it will not be fought again. The greatest mistake any nation can make, and the French in 1940 were the striking proof, is to try to fight a new war like the last one. Weapons, manpower, strategic considerations, everything changes. A big problem in the military has always been the maintenance of proper civilian control. It is related to the matter of unity. There have been complaints that as organized under former Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson the Pentagon's civilian super-structure was too heavy, with resulting conflict, delay, and dissipation of effort and power of decision.

IT IS DOUBTFUL, though, whether the cure for this is to swing to the other extreme, as the Rockefeller report recommends, and put power in the hands of a super chief of staff. What most experts believe we must seek is some kind of balance in organization which assures reasonable civilian authority yet draws the threads more tightly together than they now are. We want the rich variety of many voices and many minds brought to bear upon our critical military problems. But if this inter-flow is to produce maximum benefits, it must stop short of harmful bickering among the services. The Pentagon should not be immune to necessary and important change. But the change doesn't have to be a revolution to get results.

REAL DIGNITY can be defined as the ability to keep from being the object of mirth even when you put ice skates on for the first time in years and stand up with all the steadfastness of a piece of liver poised on end.

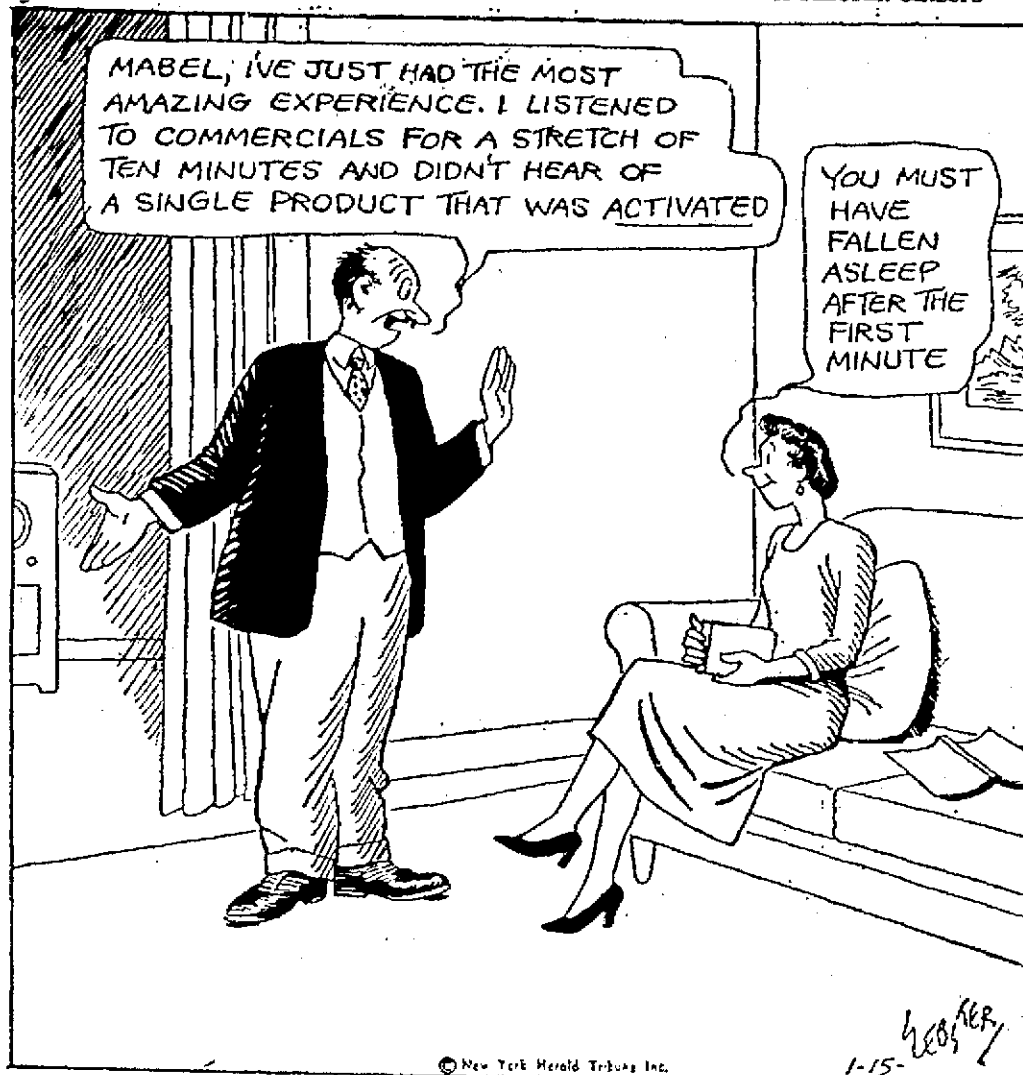

Much Can Be Done

IT IS APPARENT that the Soviet Union possesses the initiative at the present stage of the world power and ideological struggle. However, Americans have given little thought to means of wresting the initiative from the Russians. Our propaganda thinking is too largely non-political to count in ideological warfare. Much could be done through a political attack on the Russian-Chinese system of totalitarianism, a campaign of economic aid to countries such as India, the announcement of a plan for a Marshall or a joint Marshall-Colombo Plan for Asia and the under-industrialized nations, plans for quick fulfillment of the President's atom-for-peace program, an expression of willingness to negotiate openly with the Russians. Such steps, taken quickly and with energy, could give this country the initiative. If we speak with vigor and boldness now along these lines, we can improve the moral and political position of the West, raise the morale among the peoples of nations allied to us, and stir the peoples of the under-industrialized nations with hope. Not only is this country now marking time and mainly seeking to strengthen its defensive posture, but also it is giving the world no evidence of the energy of which America has long boasted. Gloom has exuded from Washington, countered by facile words of reassurances which have not quite reassured. America can still speak with hope if it but will, and extricate itself from a position of growing danger.

Military Witnesses Meet Old Dilemma

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department is making some very curious moves with respect to the service officers who are called as witnesses by the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee and put under oath to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

The dilemma is an old one, of course. The officers must not lie to the Congress; yet when they expose their differences they often appear to be in opposition to their Commander-in-Chief, the President of the United States.

It is perhaps more of a problem now, when the President is a career military man and therefore almost bound to experience an unusually keen emotional reaction to such a situation. That he has on past occasions been extremely emotional about service testimony before Congress is well known.

RIGHT NOW, two officers considered by their respective services to be among their best and most dedicated brains are featured, in incidents about which there is much sober comment here.

One is already lost to the Pentagon at this critical time: Lieut. Gen. James M. Gavin, chief of Army research and development. After blunt testimony before the Preparedness Subcommittee, he said it did not help a man to be "frank and straightforward" in testifying before Congressional committees and that he had decided to retire.

At this point Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker moved in a manner precisely calculated to force any man of honor to go through with that retirement. Brucker publicly offered Gavin a fourth star and a choice of two major Army assignments if he would continue the brilliant career begun as a private in 1924.

THE ARMY Secretary is not viewed here as offering competition to J. Robert Oppenheimer in the cerebral department and his public utterances have frequently lacked taste. But it is not considered that this remarkable performance was the purely accidental reflex of a thoughtless man. The reverse is true.

Senators close to the situation are satisfied that Brucker's was a planned maneuver designed to force Gavin to retire. They know of their own knowledge that Gavin considered remaining on Brucker's terms until a friend pointed out to him the impossible position in which he would find himself.

THE CAPITOL grapevine goes further. It describes Eisenhower as ordering Brucker to "get Gavin." There is no evidence whatever that this is true. There is equally no evidence that any private, discreet effort was made to save face on all sides but retain Gavin's services was undertaken.

This time finds a gay Air Force figure, Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, head of its ballistic missile program, moving up to the firing line. General Schriever, under oath, testified that he regarded the Defense Department's space arms board as a costly duplication of work already performed in this field.

The President had praised the agency in his State of the Union message as an example of improved organization. The contrast between the Eisenhower-Schriever views is being headlined as part of "a generals' revolt."

FOR A FEW hours the Defense Department attempted to say that the Air Force had done it. Defense Secretary McElroy at first called it a "mix-up," but after personal investigation said Defense did release it after all.

It seems at least possible that the Defense Department, after seeing the headlines, preferred to have the President irked at Schriever for testifying rather than irked at Defense for releasing the testimony.

It Is Hoped '59 Budget Will Spur Economy

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The new 73.9 billion-dollar budget which President Eisenhower has just sent to Congress for fiscal 1959 illustrates how much the mood of the country has changed in the last year.

In January, 1957, former Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey warned that if the upward trend of government expenses were not promptly stopped, there would be inflation and a depression "that would curl your hair."

This stirred up one of the biggest economy drives in the history of the country. Congress lopped from four to six billion dollars off government appropriations.

In spite of this, supplemental appropriations for new missile and defense programs now make it appear that government expenditures will be 72.8 billion dollars more than the budget which went to Congress a year ago, and which everyone thought was five billion dollars too high.

BUT NOW COMES the administration with its proposal for a 73.9 billion-dollar budget for the year beginning next July 1 and ending June 30, 1959. It's the biggest peacetime budget.

It is two billion dollars more than the budget prepared a year ago and a billion dollars more than expenditures anticipated for the current fiscal year.

Actually, a four-billion dollar increase in defense expenditures is cut down two billion dollars by economies to be effected in other departments of government.

How much further will Congress be able and willing to economize on this budget?

And if Congress not only refuses to cut this budget but also increases defense appropriations for still more missiles, will this signal the start of the inflation and depression that Mr. Humphrey tried to warn about a year ago?

The country is already admittedly in a period of readjustment or recession or whatever you want to call it. But this is not now attributed to inflated government expenditures. It is more of a recession or deflation, which was not anticipated.

NOBODY COULD be any cagier than the new Secretary of Treasury Robert B. Anderson in discussing the new budget.

He will give no precise predictions on whether taxes and the national debt ceiling will have to be raised to meet the new increased costs of national defense.

He will not even make an estimate on what the national income and gross national product will be next year to raise the 74.4 billion dollars in taxes which the government hopes to collect to cover expenses of the 73.9 billion-dollar budget.

All Secretary Anderson will say is that this country has the ability to provide whatever we need in the way of national security, and that this can be done on a pay-as-we-go basis.

Secretary Anderson won't even say whether present taxes are too high or not. All he will admit is that "they're high."

In the absence of enlightenment in such totally inadequate analyses as these, the administration's budget philosophy and fiscal policy have to be subjected to a certain amount of speculation.

IT WOULD appear that the administration anticipates the two to four billion dollars' worth of new defense spending will reverse the recession somewhat. It will create jobs.

This will help increase national income and gross national product. Normal population and the constantly expanding American economy which everyone counts on will also contribute to this development.

The hoped-for result is that national income will continue to rise and rise fast enough to provide tax revenues which will meet the constantly increasing costs of national defense.

To a degree, this is seen as an effort to spend the country back to prosperity. This is a charge which the Republicans used to make against Democratic administrations.

But the Eisenhower administration is not relying on deficit financing to achieve this result. It still hopes to obtain a balanced budget in 1959, though only by the slim margin of half a billion dollars.

As long as there is any surplus at all, however, the budget is not inflationary. In this respect it is considered sound.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — You walk along in the vestiges of snow, now a gray, heaped and garbage-strewn mess of cold and distasteful ice. You skirt the heaped mounds, leap the gutters and think of Dale Robertson, just back from Italy where he made a picture with Gina Lollobrigida. He was scarcely off the boat or plane, whatever he journeyed in, before he began giving out interviews attacking her on a variety of levels.

For Dale Robertson to criticize Gina, you think as you trudge, is like a paper match trying to outheat and outglare a furnace. There exists not one point for similarity.

You pass a sign in 53rd Street which always reminds you of the old vaudeville team of Moran and Mack. One would say he had a job at the Eagle Laundry and the other would say: "Who wants to wash eagles?" This sign says: "A. Nightingale, Upholsterer," and all you can think of is who wants to upholster nightingales?

YOU COME to wind-swept, tidied, busy Eighth Avenue and run into Larry Thompson in front of the refurbished, gleaming Manhattan Hotel, which once was the Lincoln and for years its soaring tower gathered dust, grime and neglect.

Its owner did not want to sell it, or even to have many guests. She shut up floor after floor and boarded off most of the lobby. It was a skyscraper decaying into ashes and grime.

Then a group of real estate men, headed by the fabulous Zerkendorf bought it, ripped it apart, spent $5,000,000 washing, air-conditioning, refurbishing and polishing it. It now shines brightly in the sky.

LARRY IS merchandise manager for a large Chicago retail firm, earning $40,000 a year, raising a family, having fun at his work. Six years ago he was an unemployed actor in Hollywood, facing up to the fact that the studios were not calling him to come to work.

He chucked acting, got a job in a Los Angeles department store, rose swiftly into buying, was offered the Chicago job.

It was Larry who sat with Gary Cooper and myself around a fire one night during Hollywood's January, early in the atomic age, and a visiting scientist took exactly 22 minutes to explain, as

Poles And Autos Don't Mix

WASHINGTON — The Honorable Sinclair Weeks, our Secretary of Commerce, rubbed down the ketchup doll (tuff over his expanse of brow, popped a cough drop in his mouth, and said danged if he knew how many people every year drove their motor cars into telephone poles.

This is hard on poles, but it's rougher still on people.

Weeks turned the question over to Bertram D. Tallamy, the Federal highway administrator in charge of our multibillion-dollar road building program, and he didn't know about those poles, either. He said he did know, though, that during the first three years after the New York Thruway was opened, 20 percent of its accidents were caused by autos driving into bridge heads. They just whanged into 'em.

THESE CHUNKS of concrete all were at least 10 feet off the roadway, too, Tallamy said. These answers weren't exactly satisfactory to Senator Albert Gore, who takes a dim view of poles being anywhere near automobilists. The attraction between the two is too fatal.

"Telephone poles are equally as suicidal as bridge heads," explained Chairman Gore of the Public Works subcommittee, which was checking up on progress of what undoubtedly is the biggest road-building job in history. Somebody's got to move those poles when we widen and straighten 41,000 miles of road into divided superhighways.

Then the facts came out. When Congress passed the law authorizing the work and putting up the money to get it started, it didn't spell out who would pay for digging up the poles and replacing them out of fender reach.

SHOULD UNCLE foot the bill? Or the individual states, or the electric light, phone and telegraph companies? The lawgivers will have to decide this promptly: the road-building machinery already is rumbling.

Secretary Weeks said something else that interested me: The speed limit on the new roads in flat country will be 70 miles an hour, and at this rate, the fewer poles the better. On hills we must slow down to 60, and once we get into what he calls urban areas, we'll have to creep along at 50 miles an hour.

These will be among the safest roads in America, even at those speeds, said the Secretary. There'll be no crossroads, except in the form of cloverleafs, and these only at long intervals.

THIS LED inevitably to the problem of billboards. At such speeds, the Secretary indicated, the fewer outside pictures of bathing beauties drinking beer, the better. His original idea was that the states ought to best he could to laymen, what atomics were about.

When he finished it was Coop, his long legs stretched out toward the hearth, who said in his best "High Noon" drawl: "Doctor, you — uh — mind going over that again?"

We two and the scientist fell on the floor in hysterics, and Coop probably still wonders what came over us.

It was also Larry who went with Coop on a Wyoming hunt and Larry and four others got up at 4:30 in the morning to go hunting. They walked out on the cabin porch and there was Coop, legs up to the porch rail and staring at the dawn.

"You ready to go, Coop?" Larry asked.

"Oh, I got mine," drawled Cooper. "Was up at 2:15. Nice huntin' out there, boys."

LARRY WALKS along with you for a few blocks and then grabs a taxi to go to look at some men's suits and shirts for his stores in Chicago. You walk through 49th Street and meet Jack Estly, a man who thinks in terms of decades and centuries, and you fall to talking about the excitement over rockets, satellites and when will man get to the moon.

Jack says: "I think people tend to forget the Wright Brothers. We are about now just two years short in development of where they were at Kitty Hawk. We haven't got to Kitty Hawk yet. We're still in the bicycle shop fiddling around and trying things."

In 25 years we will look at today as amusing and childish. In 50 years we will know that today was laughable awkwardness. In 100 years they will think of us as fumbling creatures of the Neanderthal Era in rocketry and space conquest. New fuels, new vehicles undreamed of, new concepts of space travel, all these are to come. We are children playing with an Erector set right now.

UNABLE TO DO anything but agree with him, you buy him some coffee at Absinthe House and talk to Marc Reuben about his move to a new location across the street. The fabled miniature streetcar named Desire which was always on the back bar goes along to the new place.

Your bride comes in and says: "I don't want to hear about rockets, actors, budgets, taxes or politics. I'm beat. Just talk to me about rest, relaxing, cool dreams and unconsciousness."

So you try to do that.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK — The mongrel dog — the flea-bitten mutt beloved of children — may be on the way out in this country.

He is becoming a victim of prosperity, according to Milton M. Weiss, president of the Animal Insurance Co. of America.

"In 1953 there were 28 million dogs in the United States and 15 million were pedigreed," said Weiss. "Today our dog population is 30 million, and 18 million are pedigreed."

"In a few short years there has been a decline of about one million in the number of non-pedigreed dogs."

"The reason is simple. People have been buying more expensive homes and cars—and they also have been upgrading their pets."

THERE WERE chorles of laughter last fall when Weiss founded the nation's first firm devoted exclusively to life insurance for pedigreed dogs.

There also were howls of protest from mongrel owners, who felt their pets were being discriminated against.

Weiss, who had spent 26 years in the insurance business and entered the new field after a 10-year actuarial study of dogs, let neither the laughter nor the howls influence him.

"We can't insure mongrels, because they have only a sentimental value," he said. "But a pedigreed dog has a property value, just like real estate or furniture."

"We feel the average pedigreed dog is worth at least $300. Actually it costs about that much each year to raise one."

This estimate would give the nation's 18 million pedigreed dogs a total value of around $5½ billion dollars.

Weiss's firm will insure pedigreed dogs ranging from six months up to seven years old for $8 per year per $100 of coverage—or up to nine years, if they are insured before the age of seven.

The firm pays off for death by any cause except poisoning. Group insurance is available at lower rates to kennel owners for five or more dogs.

DOGS CAN BE insured from $125 to $13,000. Of the 400 policies written so far, the largest is $5,000 to cover Asta, the dog that stars in "The Thin Man" series on TV.

So far only one claim has been filed. A German shepherd was killed by a hit-and-run driver only two days after its owner had taken out a $200 policy.

To guard against the possibility of fraud, his firm requires a certificate from a veterinarian giving the cause of death, in the event a claim is made, and proof that the dead dog is actually the one that was insured.

This is done by taking its nose print, which is on file with the company.

"The nose prints of dogs are just as individual as the fingerprints of human beings," said Weiss.

Assignment America

NEW YORK — Shirley Booth came to lunch in a neat black dress, a big beige trenchcoat, a high beige turban and a short curly wig.

"Keeps my head warm," said the Broadway star of her fake blonde locks. "I have a terrible cold."

It turned out that Miss Booth owns eight other wigs, 25 acting awards and a guilt complex.

The guilt complex, however, doesn't involve her current play, "Miss Isobel," about which the critics unanimously decided: "Loved her, hated it."

"I've been in other plays that got terrible notices," said Miss Booth cheerily. "The audience comes out saying it's better than they expected."

"Besides, the critics have given me lots of flowers. A few weeds will keep my soil moist."

WHAT MISS BOOTH feels guilty about is her star status.

"I just don't live up to it," she sighed. "I'm so typically average in appearance—and I'm too old to get the Salk vaccine. I don't dress up to being a star, I don't entertain much, I don't go to the right places to be seen."

"I don't even have ulcers. On opening nights I take naps."

Her lack of nerves worries her doctor, Miss Booth admitted.

"He tells me I ought to throw things," she sighed. "But when I feel tense, I just imagine I'm a sponge slowly filling up with water. See—it softens you up."

She stretched out her arms, closed her eyes and demonstrated the fine art of becoming a sponge. After a minute, she gurgled happily and announced:

"I like everybody. I like audiences, critics and Hollywood."

On cross-examination, Miss Booth acknowledged that some things she doesn't like.

"I don't like playing a middle-aged woman—it's not easy to play yourself," she said. "Children are the easiest to play."

And she doesn't like brushing stage wigs.

"It isn't practical," said the owner of nine wigs. "I have to brush that long white wig I wear in 'Miss Isobel' every night and it's getting bald. And it cost $418!"

THE SWEET-FACED, plump actress—who does look more like the nice lady next door than a top Broadway star—thinks this has contributed to her success.

"I've played a poor lonely secretary, a poor lonely photographer, a poor lonely housewife, a poor lonely office manager—I must be the champion of lonely women in plays. But I'm drawn to parts nobody else would try."

The plays she picks may be panned, but Miss Booth modestly noted that her shows "always make money, or break even."

Miss Booth won the Academy award for her film version of "Come Back Little Sheba," and a tough New York critic paid her the compliment of saying "Folks would pay to hear her read the phone book." But she laughed.

"I think I won some of those acting awards because I'm the only one who can lift them. The last one I got weighed 40 pounds."

High School Aviation Plan Under Study

Suggestion Made That West Virginia Adopt Educational Program

CHARLESTON — State Aeronautics Director Hubert Stark plans to get together with State School Supt. R. Virgil Rohrbough to discuss the possibility of setting up an aviation educational program in West Virginia high schools.

Stark said the proposed program is now being used in some 20 states to acquaint both teachers and pupils with the importance of aviation.

The program was outlined here yesterday at the quarterly meeting of the State Aeronautics Commission.

The commission was told that airport expansion programs are under way this year at Huntington, Bluefield, Beckley and at the Martinsburg National Guard unit.

Stark said the commission is also looking into ways and means of finding aid for private airport operators in some sections of the state.

PTA To Observe Founders Day

The Parent-Teacher Association of Pennsylvania Avenue School will observe Founders Day at a meeting Thursday at 7:45 p. m.

Room visitation will precede the meeting, beginning at 7 p. m., and the Homeroom Mothers will conduct a bake sale, also at 7 p. m. Proceeds from the sale will be used for the annual First Grade party.

Following the business session, a program will be presented. The principal speaker will be Dr. Gordon Sutherland, chemist at the Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory.

Vocal selections by Miss Marion Hamilton and a candlelight service are also on the program.

A social period will conclude the Founders Day observance. Homeroom Mothers will serve refreshments.

The PTA executive board will meet Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. and the Homeroom Mothers Wednesday at 1:30 p. m., both at the school.

The first of a series of six child study meetings will be held Wednesday, January 22, at 1:30 p. m. at the school.

House Appears Ready To Make Changes In West Virginia's Proposed Tax Plan

By HERB LITTLE

CHARLESTON — The House appears more likely than the Senate to be first onto the floor with a more modest substitute for Gov. Underwood's $2-million dollar tax program for roads and schools.

Five members of the House majority now have been constituted as a special committee to study the entire field of possible revenue sources and suggest "what they deem a feasible tax program."

House Speaker Flannery (D-Logan), one of the five on the committee, announced its formation after a 45-minute Democratic caucus held during a recess in yesterday's session. The caucus was held to explore the views of Democratic delegates on the question more money for highway and schools.

Need More Money
Flannery concedes the need for more money and takes the position that the issues are simply how and how much.

On the Senate side, it is the view of President Bean (D-Hardy) that a detailed study of needs should come ahead of consideration of a possible substitute revenue program, if any. The Senate Democratic majority's leadership apparently will proceed on that theory.

Serving with Flannery on the House committee concerned with developing a tax program will be Majority Leader Myles (D-Fayette) and Dels. Davis (D-Kanawha), Moreland (D-Monongalia) and Wilson (D-Marion).

Special Session
As an outgrowth of the caucus yesterday, a second special committee of House Democrats was named to confer with Road Commission officials as to the highway program. Members are Dels. Pauley (D-McDowell), Chilton (D-Kanawha), Parker (D-Marion), Kidd (D-Gilmer) and Zabeau (D-Harrison). Pauley is chairman of the House Roads Committee.

The Senate embarked today on an experiment of convening at 11 a. m. instead of the usual 2 p. m. Egan explained that he wants to try the earlier hour for a while to allow an uninterrupted period for committee work in the afternoon. The House met at 2 p. m. as usual today.

For the first time in either chamber at this young session, the Senate had two relatively minor and non-controversial bills so far along as amendment stage today.

Table prizes and special prizes will be awarded and refreshments will be served. The committee in charge of the party is comprised of Miss Inogene Hixson, Miss Ruth Lester and Mrs. Phyllis Cooley. A lake sale will be held at the same time as the card party and will be in charge of Phyllis Cooley.

Doeskin is now used in Paris to make shirtwaist blouses. These are held at the same time as the card party and will be in charge of Phyllis Cooley.

Cookie Clue

Instead of rolling cookies, try dropping the dough from a spoon on to a cookie sheet. Then stamp each one with a damp cloth stretched tightly over the flat bottom of a cup or glass. This trick will save you time and trouble.

A Charleston juvenile detective has been named that city's "Police Officer of the Year." He is Arlie Robinson, 30-year-old son of a Baptist minister and farmer and a city officer for the past nine years.

Mayor Harold Frankel of Huntington has been informed by the State Tax Department that his city cannot add women over 21 and men over 50 to its capitation tax list during this fiscal year.

Frankel reported several weeks ago that Huntington was required under a new charter, to begin collection the tax this month on the two age groups.

South Charleston Mayor Joseph W. Londeree has announced his candidacy for re-election. Londeree, a Democrat, is seeking his second four-year term. The city primary election is scheduled March 4 with the general election slated to be held the first Tuesday in April.

Butterfat in 2,530 pounds of milk. Mason, the Shumakers, L. L. Brooke and Son, Pinto, and Fred C. Siple, Fort Ashby, all had at least two cows on the select list. The Shumakers had a second cow tied for sixth place and a third cow in ninth position.

Mason's second best producer was tied for sixth. One Brooke cow was in a third place tie and the second one ranked eighth. Siple's two cows on the select list ranked fifth and in a tie for tenth place.

The only other area dairymen with cows on the top roll were Ernest A. Light of Pinto, whose grade Guernsey was tied for third, and Harry J. Barton, also of Pinto, whose grade Guernsey was tied for tenth.

The select list included nine Holsteins, four of them registered, and three grade Guernseys. There were 1,014 cows on test during December and they averaged 706 pounds of milk, 29.3 pounds of butterfat and 4.16 per cent butterfat. The highest herd average for the month of December was compiled by the 16 cows belonging to Siple. They averaged 1,100 pounds of milk, 50 pounds of butterfat and 4.54 per cent butterfat.

Bloodmobile Committees Announced

PIEDMONT — The Red Cross Bloodmobile unit will visit the Tri-Towns on Tuesday, February 4, according to Miss Bella Toney of Westernport, RC chairman, at the Presbyterian Church from noon to 6 p. m.

Mrs. Paul Cueva, chairman of the bloodmobile program for Luke and Westernport, and Mrs. Carleton Bell, field worker for Piedmont, are general co-chairmen.

The Tri-Towns are uniting in an all-out drive to reach the quota of 85 points of blood.

Mrs. Cueva and Mrs. Bell have appointed chairmen for the following committees: Mrs. Benjamin E. Manolen and Mrs. Foster Daniels, secretarial; Mrs. Joseph Alongi and Mrs. Ormond Ledlow, recruiting; Mrs. Manolen, hostesses; Mrs. Paul Cueva, doctors; and nurses: Mrs. Clarence Weasenthorn, canteen; Edward Seaman and Mrs. Kenneth Malcolm, publicity; Mrs. E. J. Shaver and Mrs. Ormal Hoover, transportation.

Free transportation to the blood center, and return, can be arranged by contacting Mrs. Shaver or Mrs. Hoover. Any person wishing to contact the center for any reason may dial the Presbyterian Church study, 23211. This number is listed under the name of Rev. Robert M. Campbell.

Persons new to the community who wish to give blood are requested to make an appointment with either Mrs. Alongi, 29120 or Mrs. Ledlow, 28901.

Home Furnishing Class Planned

KEYSER — A class in home furnishings will be offered by the Home Economics Department of Potomac State College each Wednesday evening, beginning February 5 from 7 to 9 p. m.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hanlin, head of the department, will serve as instructor. The course will include selection, construction and renovation of home furnishings with attention to draperies, upholstery, slip covers for furniture and refinishing wood.

The class carries no college credit. Each member will be responsible for the selection and purchase of materials for her own work.

A charge of $5 will be made to each member of the class. Anyone interested in the course may contact Mrs. Hanlin at Potomac State College before January 25.

PSC Student Wins Contest

KEYSER — Pamela Pamer, freshman secretarial science major at Potomac State College, took first place in the annual poetry interpretation contest sponsored by the speech department.

Choosing as a theme the subject "The Sea," Miss Pamer first gave brief impressions of the significance of the sea, after which she read the following poems: "Sea Fever" by John Masefield, "Once by the Pacific" by Robert Frost and "Apostrophe to the Ocean" by Lord Byron.

As her annual award to the winner Dr. Elizabeth A. Atwater, head of the speech department, presented Miss Pamer with a set of personalized book plates. A graduate of Charleston High School, Miss Pamer is the daughter of Mrs. E. E. McCutcheon of Charleston.

Other finalists in the contest chosen by their classmates in two sections of the speech class following a class assignment in poetry interpretation included Margaret Frey, Keyser, whose theme was "Loneliness," Henrietta K. Allen, Keyser, "Morning," Jani Melody, Keyser, "Snow," Harold L. Courtney, Grifton, "London, England," Eleanor Moyer, Lost City, "Love" and Robert Goodfellow, LaVale, "Prayer."

Judges were Dean Flora J. Frost, Mrs. Warren Kolkhorst and Capt. Jack Fessenden.

Fall Victim Improves

WESTERNPORT—Mrs. Charles J. Laughlin, 117 Kalbaugh Street, who chipped a bone in her leg and elbow in a fall, is recuperating at her home.

A charge of $5 will be made to each member of the class. Anyone interested in the course may contact Mrs. Hanlin at Potomac State College before January 25.

Deep Creek State Park Project In Area Progresses

Work on Deep Creek State Park in nearby Garrett County is progressing, according to William H. Johnson, district forester, who said that it is hoped the project is completed by mid-summer.

Covering an area of about 1,200 acres, the park's recreational area will include swimming and picnicking facilities. William A. Parr, of Baltimore, superintendent of state parks in Maryland, conferred yesterday with Johnson on the location of various facilities of the park.

Next week the work of clearing the area for the proposed bath house is expected to get underway. Johnson pointed out that excavation work for the bath house will be started and the footer will be laid when the weather warms up. It will measure 88 feet by 24 feet and will be constructed of concrete block.

The building will include dressing rooms, showers and toilet facilities, he said. The beach along the lake front has been cleared and sand and gravel will be placed there within the next few weeks.

Deep Creek State Park, which was authorized by the State Department of Forests and Parks in 1953, is located between Meadow Mountain Run and Cherry Creek Run inlets across from Thayerville.

At the time of the authorization some $85,000 was appropriated for land acquisition and in later years additional appropriations were made for construction, parking areas, sanitary facilities, water supply, picnic facilities and the bath house.

Work is being done by employees of the Forestry Department. Necessary equipment is hired according to Johnson.

Men's Club To Meet

BARTON — The Men's Club of the Presbyterian Church will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the church.

Interest Lags In Election At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — In checking names dropped from the Allegheny County voting rolls at Cumberland, City Hall Clerk Margaret Kidwell this week came up with 155 here.

Mrs. Kidwell is now checking these names against the city voting list. Most of those removed from the county list are deceased. All those names dropped may not appear on the city rolls, Mrs. Kidwell said.

With the revision of the local voting list, citizens are reminded that a city election will be held April 1. According to City Clerk William Vogtman, no persons have filed for any of the positions to be voted on in the election of a mayor and four councilmen.

When April 1 comes around, the present city government will not look like the one elected two years ago. At that time Joseph James was elected mayor with 773 votes.

Councilmen elected from a field of nine were Herbert E. Loar who became finance commissioner; William J. Eberly, water commissioner; C. Franklin Martens, police commissioner; and James H. Evans, street commissioner.

Last fall Martens resigned his council seat to become assistant water superintendent, for the city. William W. Sluss Jr., fifth man in the election of '56, was appointed police commissioner. Late in the fall Commissioner William Eberly died while in Florida, and was succeeded by William Preston who was appointed seventh in the '56 election.

Also on the 1956 ballot was the question authorizing city commissioners to issue bonds not to exceed $85,000 for the purpose of erecting a pajama factory. This question was overwhelmingly approved 1,239 for to 39 against.

Circuit Court later decreed that this was unconstitutional but the local decision was reversed recently by the Court of Appeals.

According to Vogtman, any person desiring to file for one of the five offices must do so not later than midnight March 18.

Citizens who wish to vote may register up until the end of February as the records have to be closed one month before the election. The clerk also reminds many citizens that although their names appear on county records this does not permit them to vote in a city election. The local registration is separate. If there is any question, or if a person was turned down at the last election, he may go to City Hall during regular hours and check with the clerk on his registration.

Methodists Lead College Survey

KEYSER — A survey of religious preferences shown by students of Potomac State College, as released by the office of Dean K. S. McKee, indicates that the Methodist group leads with 208 members. Catholic students numbering 82 are the second largest group, followed by Presbyterians with 68.

Of the total of nearly 600 students, 554 indicated an affiliation with some established church. Other preferences cited were Baptist 42, Lutheran 37, Evangelical United Brethren 34 and Episcopalian 17. Several other denominations have about ten representatives each.

In 1920, the U.S. had more than 70 million meat animals; in 1957, a number of 95 million.

FARM SHOW WEIGH-IN — Cute five-year-old Mary Keller of Camp Hill, Cumberland County, Pa., makes friends with day-old chicks as she weighs the poultry on a beam scale at the huge Pennsylvania State Farm Show, one of the nation's largest all-farm exhibitions under roof in the Harrisburg farm show building.

'AND AWAY WE GO'—One of seven buck deer released in Garrett County recently is shown leaving its crate as Regional Game Warden Joseph Minke (left) and Game Warden Leo Friend head him towards an open field. Through efforts of the Casselman Valley Sportsmen's Club, the animals were secured from Aberdeen Proving Ground near Baltimore. One deer was inadvertently freed in Grantsville by a curious bystander who lifted the trap door on a parked truck. The animal disappeared down Route 40.

Mineral County March Of Dimes Folders Mailed

KEYSER — Mrs. George E. Barger, campaign chairman for the March of Dimes in Mineral County, announces that collection cards have been mailed out to local residents, and townships are asked to give liberally to help achieve the 1958 goal which has been set at approximately $4,000.

She also explained that the telephone directory was used in preparing the mailers and that many people will have been missed. Those desiring to give may mail their contributions to the March of Dimes, in care of Mrs. George E. Barger, Keyser, W. Va.

John Hamilton is currently serving as head of the Mineral County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. He succeeds James H. Swadley, Jr., who headed the project last year.

Completes Course

Second Lt. Richard L. Bright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Trix L. Bright, State Street, was graduated from the Army Air Defense School's course in the fundamentals of anti-aircraft artillery operation and tactics at Fort Bliss, Texas. He entered the Army last August.

Bright is a graduate of Keyser High School, Potomac State College and West Virginia University. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity and Phi Alpha Theta, history honorary. He is now stationed at Fort Knox, Ky.

Piedmont Council Will Meet Tonight

PIEDMONT — A meeting of Mayor Rodney Baker and Council will be held today at 6:30 p. m. to receive bids for a new truck. Council will also consider applications for street department employees due to the deaths of Daniel Ross, street superintendent and Frank C. Greco, who were killed last Friday when the town truck was demolished as it was struck by a B&O passenger train at a crossing two miles east of here.

Keyser Girls Detained In N. Carolina

KEYSER — Keyser police have been notified that two local girls were picked up by Jacksonville, N. C., authorities and are being held there pending further instructions.

They were identified as Lorena Ruble, 19 daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ruble, 88 North Women of the World. She also is Mineral Street, and Kathleen Hudson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hudson, 31 Newton Street.

Local police said they had not notified the girls were missing and did not know until they were informed by Jacksonville police they had been picked up on the streets there about 4 p. m. Monday.

Police said they would let the girls' parents decide what to do with them. They added that although they had not been notified the girls were missing they did value of better living projects to not believe they had been away from home more than a couple of days before they were picked up in Jacksonville.

MT. SAVAGE — A social will be held Friday at 7:45 p. m. in St. Patrick's hall under the sponsorship of Court Theresa 557, Catholic Daughters of America. Mr. and Mrs. William Becker and daughter, Anna Frances, McKeesport, and Ronald Gordon, Cleveland, returned after visiting Miss Loretta Carabine.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sansom and son, John, have returned to Gulfport, Fla., after visiting Mrs. Sansom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burch.

Carol Ann Geary, student nurse at City Hospital, Martinsburg, returned after spending two weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Geary.

More Teacher Pay

RICHMOND — The teacher salary scale in Virginia would go up $200 in the next two years from the present range of $2,400-$3,600 to $2,600-$3,800 under the budget proposed by Gov. Stanley.

Moreover, there is enough State money provided in the budget to take care of this increase, Stanley told reporters in a preview of the budget.

The fund drive will be held this month to secure more dimes in the continuing fight against the polio disease and disability. Davis urges all residents to join the March of Dimes and help Lonaconing attain its goal.

Dimes holders have been distributed to Valley High School and Central Elementary School by Davis for students.

Organizations are asked to support the March of Dimes by contributing or by sponsoring events. Donations are to be sent to Treasurer Thomas A. Park, West Main Street, Lonaconing.

Wild Turkey Survives Four Thanksgivings

STORMONT, Va. — A plump wild turkey has survived four Thanksgivings and three Christmases at the home of Postmaster Roger Callis and seems perfectly at home among the chickens and dogs in the yard. The turkey — now something of a pet called Turk — flew in four years ago and just stuck around.

Callis said a game warden told him once he should take Turk back to the woods. But Callis said the bird arrived under his own power and could leave the same way anytime he wanted to.

Funds Needed For New Frostburg Factory

FROSTBURG — David Willets, treasurer of the Frostburg Industrial Promotion Company which is presently erecting a factory building at Wrights Crossing, has announced that the company is desperately in need of funds to pay for materials which are arriving nearly every day. These funds must come from those people who pledged towards the plant.

Janet Poland Feted With Birthday Party

LONACONING — Rev. and Mrs. Paul Poland, Jackson Street, entertained recently with a party honoring their daughter, Janet, on her sixteenth birthday. Games were played, music furnished by Mrs. Jean Foote and Mrs. Paul Poland on the accordion and refreshments served.

Attending were Ronald, Rebecca and Betty Ann Arnold, Gladys Loar, Clyde Foore, Glenna Whitman, Mary Russell, Helen Crawford, June Timney, Ronald Custer, Helen Whitman, Virginia Brummage, Ruth Ann Poland, Carlene Tharp and Edith Steele, party.

Local people who solicited pledges last fall are now contacting those who have not paid them. Promotion officials hope to have all money in within the next 10 days.

According to Howard Shuman, chairman, the factory building itself is nearly completed. Three walls, the two sides and one end are completed. The roof is nearly finished and when it is interior work may begin and need not be interrupted by the weather. All work is to be completed by April 1. The undergarment company will then install machinery and production will get under way.

In the drive for $35,000 last fall, $60,000 was pledged by individuals and this is the amount that should be made good immediately with cash. Shuman said. The other $25,000 came from the undergarment company and the contractor. The new building, when completed, will cost nearly $95,000 with the extra $10,000 being secured by the undergarment company.

Inquest Jury Absolves Train Crew Of Responsibility In Deaths Of Two Piedmont Men On Crossing

An inquest jury yesterday re-Madelyn Bazzle in Keyser under Virginia, as a result of being struck by a railroad train and 64, of 111 Main Street Keyser, turned a verdict relieving the the direction of Prosecuting At-torney Donald C. Holt. Railroad passenger train of all The jury's verdict, following responsibility in the deaths of two Piedmont men who were killed Friday when their truck was struck at Keymont, W. Va.

The six members of the jury Greco and Daniel Ross came to conducted the inquest at the of their deaths on January 10 at fice of Justice of the Peace Keymont, Mineral County, West

Both the victims were members of the Piedmont Street Depart-ment. Mr. Ross, 62, was superin-tendent of the department and lengths west of the crossing where the accident occurred. The first witness to testify at the inquest was Jesse U. Hull, turned that the train was about seven car lengths from the cross-ing when he first saw the truck. He said he immediately applied his emergency brakes but that the train struck the front of the truck. He added that he did not know if the truck was stalled on the track or not but that he didn't see any movement in the cab.

Mr. Hull also testified that the side window of the truck was fogged at the time. Fireman Ralph Sims, 45, of Cumberland, testified he was on the opposite side of the engine cab and did not see the accident. However, he corroborated the en-gineer's statements on the speed of the train, the sounding of the whistle and bell and added that the state law puts a maximum speed of 50 miles per hour for trains at that point.

Robert Mongold, Piedmont po-lice officer, said he measured the distance from the accident to some parked coal cars which were located on an other track and which were be-lieved to have been obscured from the vision of the truck driver. He stated the cars were lo-ated 187 feet from the crossing. It was noted by authorities at the inquest that the law requires railroad cars to be parked at least 150 feet from a crossing. Members of the jury were Miss Gertrude Seaber, O. A. Harmon and Donald Kingerly of Keyser; William Price and John White of Piedmont; and Andrew Preston of near Keyser.

Third Person Dies In Bus Wreck On Pike

Two Remain In Critical List At Bedford Hospital

A 24-year-old North Carolina woman today became the third person to die of injuries suffered in the bus crash Monday night on the ice-coated Pennsylvania Turnpike 12 miles west of Bedford.

The third victim was Mrs. Clemmie Johnson, Jacksonville, N. C., who died this morning in Bedford County Memorial Hospital without regaining consciousness.

The first two victims were Miss Marion Lay, 55, of New York City, and Charles Malloy, 22, of Albion, Iowa, who were both killed instantly in the crash.

Meanwhile, two more of the 17 persons admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital remain on the "critical" list but are reported as improving. They are Robert Ehenstam, of Salt Lake City, Utah, and James Murray, of Oren, Utah.

Four other passengers in the bus are reported in "fair" condition at the hospital. They are Paul Nelson, Muncie, Ind.; Joseph Kukulski, of Baltimore; Arthur Cortina, Torrence, Calif.; and John Fisher, Burger, Texas. Cecil Henson, of Danville, Ky., is reported in "good" condition.

A total of 16 passengers and the driver, Gordon Hileman, 38, of Uniontown, were injured in the accident which occurred when the bus skidded out of control on the icy turnpike and was ripped into two chunks against a bridge pillar.

The bus careened into the middle support of an overhead bridge. A rear section of several seats, including the rear wheels, was ripped off and jammed against the pillar. The front section skidded about 100 yards before coming to a stop on its remaining two wheels.

A fleet of seven ambulances from the Bedford-Everett area went to the scene but had difficulty reaching the turnpike due to slippery roads. The bus was east-bound from Pittsburgh to New York.

Oakland Man, Sister Die

Death struck twice at an Oakland family within 9 hours with a man and sister succumbing.

Emory D. Bolden, 58, operator of the Bolden Funeral Home, died last night at Bayard, W. Va., where he had gone to pick up a man injured in an auto accident.

About 6:30 a. m. today Mrs. Premia (Bolden) Brown, 68, a sister of Mr. Bolden died at her home of a heart attack which members of the family believe was brought on by her brother's sudden death. She was the wife of Carl Brown and a native of Oakland.

When Bolden stepped from his ambulance he collapsed and died. He had suffered from a heart condition for several years. He had been active in church and community organizations.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary (May) Bolden; two daughters, Mrs. David Worgan, Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. James Helbig, Oakland; a son, DeCorsey Bolden, Washington, and five grandchildren.

The body is at the Bolden Funeral Home.

Engineers Club To Meet Today

The Engineers Club of Cumberland will hold a dinner meeting today at 6:30 p. m. at the Algonquin Shrine Country Club.

The principal speaker will be Jack Gillette, Baltimore, who will discuss "Professional Aspects of Engineering Problems." Following the talk, E. H. Hanhart of Baltimore will speak on the type of examination given and the review necessary in connection with the examination for professional licensing in Maryland.

Engineers interested in obtaining their professional license may attend the meeting which is scheduled to start at approximately 7:30 p. m.

Recreation Night Slated Today

Adult recreation night is scheduled today at Fort Hill High School from 7 to 10 p. m.

The Recreation Department said sessions are held each Wednesday. All adults are invited. Equipment is furnished by the department and activities include badminton and volleyball.

Columbia Street PTA Plans Meet

The Parent-Teacher Association of Columbia Street School will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the school. The teachers will be in their classrooms for visitation at 7 p. m.

The program will be held in the form of a "Father's Night." Miss Sandra Rucker will be guest vocalist and Peter Lucas will present several piano selections. B. U. Smith, secretary of the Central YMCA, will speak.

BUS CUT IN HALF—Three persons were killed and 15 injured in the Trailways bus shown above which was severed into two parts as the bus slid on the icy Pennsylvania Turnpike Monday night 12 miles west of Bedford. Two persons were killed instantly and the third, Mrs. Clemmie Johnson, 24, died today in Bedford County Memorial Hospital. The front section of the bus is shown after it skidded 150 yards up the highway from the point of impact. (AP Photofax)

Cash Stolen From Oldtown Road Tavern

The thieves were at it again in Cumberland last night.

Allen Shaw, co-owner of Shaw's Tavern, Oldtown Road, informed police this morning that someone broke into his establishment during the night.

Missing was $165 in cash, including a new $50 bill, and approximately $84 in whisky.

Cumberland has been suffering under a rash of breaking and entering the past several months. Police noted that the whisky stolen last night was mostly in pint bottles.

The intruder entered the building by removing putty from a front window. The glass was then hidden under a flight of stairs at the side of the building.

Meanwhile, two theft cases were cleared yesterday by City Police.

City Police Detective E. Gordon Hite said three 16-year-old boys admitted they took seven cases of beer from a truck which was being unloaded at the home of Cumberland Lodge 271, Loyal Order of Moose, on Beall Street.

Part of the beer was recovered by police, who said the youths took three cases on Friday and four on Monday and hid it under rocks along the Potomac River.

Two of the boys admitted taking a tool box and tow rope from the automobile of Gordon Lambert, which was parked on Brown Avenue Monday. Police said Lambert was still drilling for the new Armory site at the time of the theft of the tool box and rope which were recovered.

The boys were released in the custody of their parents pending action of Juvenile Court. Lieutenant James E. Van and Detective Hite investigated the theft on Brown Avenue.

Detective Hite said he probed the attempted breaking and entering at the Park Street Espresso Station. The attempt was reported by Frank Cavans, operator of the service station. Scratch marks were found on the front door of the station.

PTA To Sponsor Hymn Sing, Social

The Parent-Teacher Association of Short Gap School will sponsor a hymn sing and social, Friday at 7:30 p. m. at the school. Rev. Alvin Michael will direct the program which will feature group singing and duet and quartet units from area churches.

Proceeds from the program will be used for PTA activities.

Local Firm Low Bidder For Thruway Project

The low bid for the construction of 1.83 miles of the Cumberland Thruway was submitted yesterday by the Cumberland Contracting Company.

The local firm bid $779,305.56 for the construction of a modern dual highway running from the Elvits Creek Bridge on Route 51 to Crawford Street in Cumberland.

Two other bids were submitted to the Maryland State Roads Commission yesterday on the project, according to G. Bates Chaires, District 6 engineer.

The George F. Hazelwood Company, of Cumberland, bid $818,105.05 and the S. T. Brotemarkle Company, also of this city, offered to do the work for $819,604.11.

The contract will mark the start of the southern extension of the Thruway, which is known as the Industrial highway or boulevard and is listed as Line C of the Thruway program.

The contract will begin just east of the new Route 51 bridge

New Manager Assumes Job At Murphy's

M. D. Specht today assumed the management of the local G. C. Murphy Company store after having served for two and a half years as assistant to the manager of the firm's Western Division.

Specht succeeds Max W. Bastian, who has been promoted to manager of the Cumberland District. Bastian in turn succeeds H. J. Sebra, who has been appointed manager of the Murphy Company's recently organized Atlanta (Ga.) District.

A native of Milton, Pa., Specht joined the Murphy Company after eight years experience with another large national variety firm.

His first assignment was as assistant manager of a Pittsburgh outlet, after which he was given a similar position at Fort Wayne, Ind., before being named to the Western Division post.

Headquarters for the Western Division was Indianapolis, Ind., with the division comprised of 111 stores in five states, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky.

Specht made his home at Fort Wayne, Ind., where his wife, the former Miss Frances Tessein of Trenton, N. J., and three children are residing. He expects to move his family to their new home in The Dingle by the middle of next month.

Active in Masonic organizations, Specht is a 32nd degree Mason and holds membership in the Shrine and Blue Lodge at Fort Wayne. The family holds membership in the Methodist Church.

He was formerly associated with the Rotary and Kiwanis organizations but was forced to give up his memberships because of the travel necessitated by his former position.

His family consists of two daughters, 15 and 12 years of age, and a son, 11.

Police said the case developed when a man in the 100 block of Washington Street telephoned that two boys, carrying a cigar box, were at his door requesting donations for the new pool.

Officer Morrissey nabbed the boys in the 400 block with a total of $1.39 in the box.

After being turned over to Detective Harry Iser at Police Headquarters the boys admitted stealing a number of items during the past several months.

Both boys also admitted collecting money on newspaper routes several times, and in several thefts.

One boy told Det. Iser he had stolen two boxes of 22 shells from Lou's Auto Store, a razor from Murphy's and a hand warmer from Sears and Roebuck.

The other boy admitted taking a pen and pencil set from McCrory's, a pen, cakes and candy from Perrin's Store on Baltimore Avenue and a tie clip and holder from Murphy's.

The boys were released in the custody of their parents and will be given hearings later this week in Juvenile Court.

Car Hits Train; Pair Injured

A Manns Choice man and his wife were seriously injured last night when their automobile was struck by a train at Manns Choice.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford said the collision occurred at 9:45 p. m. yesterday on State Route 31.

Police said the victims were H. Ward Herline, 62, and his wife, Mrs. Catherine Herline, 57.

Police said the Herlines were traveling east on Route 31 when their car ran into a Bedford County Local operated by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Both were admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital and are listed in "serious" condition. Herline sustained a fractured skull, while his wife suffered fractured ribs.

West Side PTA Will Meet Tomorrow Night

The Parent-Teacher Association of West Side School will meet tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the school. A teacher visitation period will be held prior to the meeting, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

The program will feature a discussion on the foundation for religious training. Participating will be Rev. John Sammel, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church; Rabbi Stanley Levin, spiritual leader of Beth Jacob Synagogue, and Rev. Arthur W. Bastress, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

Another Unit Backs Tawes For Governor

Miles Announces Support For Bruce In Senate Contest

BALTIMORE (AP) — J. Millard Tawes has won a pledge of support from Democratic leaders in Prince Georges County, boosting the number of counties to 14 that are backing him for the gubernatorial nomination.

Yesterday's action by the Prince Georges Democratic committee also was the first endorsement given to the Tawes ticket since Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro was added to the slate.

All of the counties backing the state comptroller in his bid for the chief executive's office have not endorsed his entire slate. Besides D'Alesandro, who switched from the governor's race to that of senator, the ticket includes Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert for renomination and State Sen. Louis L. Goldstein for comptroller.

Miles For Bruce

In another development, Clarence W. Miles announced he was supporting James Bruce, one of D'Alesandro's rivals for Senate nomination. Bruce is a former ambassador to Argentina.

Miles, former head of the State Bar Assn., is a former president of the Baltimore Orioles and along with D'Alesandro helped bring big league baseball back to the city.

The Tawes forces met here yesterday to iron out some campaign details, and Tawes and his fellow campaigners also considered the problem of "keeping another ticket from being 'formed' around Bruce.

Bruce reportedly has sounded out State Sens. John Grason Turnbull of Baltimore County and Edward S. Northrop of Montgomery County to comprise an opposition slate to Tawes & Co.

Want Same Spot

However, the bug in the ointment here is the possibility that Turnbull and Northrop would insist on the same spot on the ticket — the gubernatorial post.

Northrop reportedly was approached about joining a coalition headed by D'Alesandro before the mayor dropped his gubernatorial aspirations. The Montgomery County senator was to have been offered the attorney general's slot. But Northrop was said to have turned this down on the basis that the office was a graveyard for politically aspiring young Democrats.

Turnbull, a three-time majority leader in the State Senate, has declined comment on either the Tawes-D'Alesandro slate or on Bruce's attempt to set up a rival ticket.

In his endorsement of Bruce, Miles termed him the best qualified candidate. He cited his reputation in international diplomacy and in business as a man "of demonstrated integrity and unquestioned integrity."

Miles added that it was no time to choose a candidate on the basis of purported political expediency.

Absentee Ballot Forms Available

Application forms are available at the Allegany Board of Election Supervisors office for absentee ballots for members of the armed forces and similar groups serving outside the United States.

Besides the armed forces, persons who are members of the Merchant Marine, War Shipping Administration, American Red Cross, Society of Friends, Women's Auxiliary Service Pilots of the United States Organizations are eligible to obtain absentee ballots.

Friends or members of the families of persons serving outside the U.S. and eligible to vote in Maryland, may procure an application form at the Election Board office at the Court House.

The forms can be sent to the persons and they in turn will mail in the form requesting an absentee ballot. Ballots should be ready for mailing April 1.

Two Improve At Hospital

Two officials of the State of Pennsylvania are reported "improved" at Bedford County Memorial Hospital where they were admitted yesterday morning following a four-vehicle collision on the ice-coated Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Hospital attaches said this morning Milton Weisberg, 42, Pittsburgh, deputy secretary of labor and industry for Pennsylvania, and his administrator, Francis Marino, 36, also of Pittsburgh, are improving.

Marino had one leg amputated yesterday, and it was reported that specialists from Pittsburgh were called in this morning to examine Weisberg's condition. It was believed he would also lose a leg.

They were injured when two automobiles and two tractor-trailers crashed on the Turnpike near Everett.

Elks Plan Program To Honor 'Oldtimers'

Cumberland Lodge 63, BPO Elks, will observe "Oldtimers' Night and Zero Hour" today at 8 p. m. to mark the visitation of Lloyd B. Pahlman, president of the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia Elks Association.

Pahlman is a past exalted ruler of Easton Lodge 1622.

Twenty-five year pins will be presented to D. Glyn Davis and Burland E. DeBolt. A luncheon will follow the business session.

ILDIKO GERGELY

Local Family "Adopts" Girl In Germany

Hungarian Child Receives Monthly Aid Totaling $15

A local family has financially "adopted" a 12-year-old Hungarian girl who lives in a West Germany refugee settlement with her ailing mother and brother.

Ildiko Gergely, who fled with her family when Soviet troops occupied her homeland in 1944, has been "adopted" by Mr. and Mrs. Arliss E. Kessecker, 712 Louisiana Avenue, under the Foster Parents Plan.

Mr. and Mrs. Kessecker will contribute to the support of the young Hungarian by advancing $15 a month toward the child's support through the Foster Parents Plan — a non-profit, non-sectarian organization.

The case history of 12-year-old Ildiko reveals she lives in a single room at the refugee settlement with her mother and 10-year-old brother, Lewente, both suffering from tuberculosis.

The family found haven in lower Bavaria after fleeing from the Soviet occupation. The father returned to Hungary afterward to see if the situation warranted the return of his family to their homeland. After a lengthy period, it was learned he had been arrested by the communists. No further word has been available on his whereabouts and it is presumed he is dead.

After the father's departure, the family was shifted from one camp to another, and in 1950 the mother became ill with tuberculosis. The Foster Parents organization reports she has been in and out of hospitals since, and her son also fell victim to the disease.

The family's only source of income is a grant of $32.95 a month from welfare assistance, and after light, fuel and food costs are deducted, the family is left with only 24 cents a day each to cover all their needs.

Ildiko is described as a pretty girl, with blonde hair and blue eyes. She is a sixth grade student, and described as one of the best in her class. Ildiko is fluent in both German and Hungarian.

Henderson Fills In At Hagerstown Court

Chief Judge George Henderson will handle Circuit Court cases in Washington County while Associate Judge D. Kenneth McLaughlin is away.

Judge Henderson will be in Hagerstown to hear court matters on January 22 and 27 and February 4. He heard cases yesterday in Hagerstown.

Two Enter Not Guilty Pleas To Indictments

Pleas of not guilty were entered by City Detective Joseph H. Stichter and James Edward Earsom, 49, of 12 North Mechanic Street, who are charged with obstructing justice.

An indictment against Earsom was placed on the open docket yesterday afternoon.

Stichter and Earsom were arraigned before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Circuit Court. Harold E. Naughton, attorney for Stichter, indicated he will file a motion for a bill of particulars in his clients case.

Earsom was returned to the county jail. Stichter is free on bond.

The two four-count indictments charge Earsom with "unlawfully and corruptly" obstructing and impeding the administration of justice by "corruptly, maliciously and wickedly" influencing two teen-age girls to leave town last October 7 rather than testify before the October grand jury the next morning concerning their alleged drinking in two downtown establishments.

Not guilty pleas also were entered by Lewis Yankelevitz, this city, on two charges of embezzlement and three charges of false pretenses involving a total of $5,397.65.

Two other defendants pleaded guilty yesterday and Judge Harris ordered pre-sentencing investigations by David M. Steele, probation and parole officer.

One guilty plea was entered by John James Fadeley, this city, on jail break charges. Fadeley, who was serving a six-month sentence in the County Jail on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol, was a trustee at the jail when he walked away September 28, more than four months after starting his sentence May 21. Fadeley subsequently was arrested by city police and after serving 10 days in the City Jail, was returned to the County Jail.

Temperatures Hold Steady For 24 Hours

Cloudy Weather And Rain Forecast Tonight, Tomorrow

Cloudy weather with rain likely is the forecast for Allegany and Garrett counties tonight.

Temperatures will be in the low 30s and tomorrow will also be cloudy and with some rain. Tomorrow temperatures will range from 35 to 40 degrees.

Cumberland's official temperature only varied three degrees with a low of 36 degrees and a high of 39 degrees in the 24 hours ending at noon. It was also 39 degrees at noon. A total of .37 inch of rain fell yesterday.

Snow at Frostburg

R. E. Weber, official weather observer at Oakland, said the temperature in that area ranged only two degrees, from a low of 32 early today to 34 at noon. A light sprinkle of snow fell during the night and yesterday afternoon some rain froze as it hit the ground.

Roads are wet in the Oakland area but no ice has formed. Weber said the wind had shifted shortly before noon and was coming out of the west.

In Frostburg a light snow was falling at noon. The snowfall was preceded by a fine mist.

The extended forecast for West Virginia calls for colder weather tomorrow and Friday. It will be warmer over the weekend. Rain or snow is forecast for tomorrow and again next Monday. Temperatures in the northern section of the Mountain State normally average 33 degrees while in the southern areas the average is 36 degrees.

Streams Rise

The Potomac River rose to 4.45 feet as a result of the rainfall yesterday. Wills Creek also rose because of the rain. One of the concrete piers of the Western Maryland Railway bridge near Baltimore Street was undermined by the water and the pier tilted and a steel girder of the bridge hung in mid-air.

The railway bridge is being dismantled for a new structure in the flood control project along Wills Creek. More than half the bridge has been razed.

Traffic on highways both east and west of Cumberland was slowed by a dense fog last night which enshrouded the area after the heavy rainfall yesterday.

Gephart PTA To Continue New Contacts

The Gephart School Parent Teacher Association will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the school and will continue a new type of parent-teacher visitation.

Following the business meeting a musical program will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Avis Siehler.

From the evaluation of the reaction to the November meeting, which presented something new in parent-teacher visitation, it was shown that parents prefer this type of visitation to that which previously had been conducted. The favorable response to the new type of visitation was so encouraging and enthusiastic that the school plans to have a similar meeting this month.

Teachers and parents will again meet in the respective classrooms, following the regular business meeting, and open discussion will be conducted by each teacher in an effort to encourage better understanding on the part of both parents and teachers.

Refreshments will be served in the school cafeteria by the refreshment committee.

PTA Will See Demonstration

A demonstration on phonovisual education will be given at a meeting of the Mt. Royal School Parent Teacher Association tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the school.

The demonstration will be given by Mrs. Edith MacMinnis, a member of the teaching staff at the school. A visitation to home rooms will be made by parents starting at 7 p. m., according to Harold E. Naughton, president of the PTA.

New Comedy Team Smash Hit On "Omnibus" Show

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK — (INS) — Some one must have discovered the contents of "Omnibus" suddenly had lost its mustiness, its plodding pedantry, its somewhat patronizing air of well-show-you-what's-good-and-cultural.

Somewhat "Omnibus," its gray classroom flavor gone entirely, last night took over NBC-TV and for the first time this season, Bert's old humor seemed simply to dance with fun.

It had Bert Lahr, always welcome, especially when he unearths his ancient, durable, daffy "Woodman" song. Bert also gonged through several amusing sketches which just may have been holdovers from old Broadway revues.

Several others frankly were warmed-over production numbers, notably the opening, a bit over-extended, "Gladys Girl," from "Lend An Ear," a small, revue of a good many seasons ago.

The comedy team of Mike Nichols and Elaine May, who departed in several scenes last night on "Omnibus" more than helped keep that generally pretentious program a very funny show.

They performed in a mighty amusing, and farcically true, telephone sketch, then repeated their perceptive hilarity in a deceptively simple, and plausible, feat of verbal bending about sex, which somehow skirted bad taste while belling over its laughter.

Nichols and Miss May turned out to be far more than talented, junior clowns mauling the creations of others: although "Omnibus" did not bother to list their comedy material's authorship, it, Palm Springs tenants.

Claire Bloom Enchanting In TV Fairy Tale

Shirley Temple's New Storybook Series Termed Delightful

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK — "Beauty and the Beast" was a delight. Surely this first in the Shirley Temple's Storybook series on NBC-TV was the most enjoyable fairy tale that has appeared on television since "Peter Pan."

It would be difficult to imagine a more enchanting Beauty than Claire Bloom or a more compelling Beast than Charlton Heston. E. G. Marshall, June Lockhart and Barbara Baxley helped a make-believe world become most credible entertainment in this live color production from Hollywood Sunday evening.

"Beauty and the Beast" combined superb acting and production with a third virtue that has been all too rare in television's previous attempts in never-ending fidelity to a story that has endured for centuries. For this we presumably are indebted to Joseph Schrank, who adapted it, and to director Kirk Browning and producer Alvin Cooperman.

Those who saw it in color were especially fortunate. Let us note, too, that Shirley Temple makes a charming hostess.

Cast, production, color, Miss Temple... all might have been wasted if someone had tried to tamper with the familiar story that probably is best known to us today through the Andrew Lang Fairy Books.

Nobody tried to make a musical of it or load it with esoteric psychological meanings or give it a new beginning, middle or end.

Fidelity to the original, by the way, does not mean a literal translation. In the story Beauty had five sisters and six brothers. On television she had two sisters. In the story she returned home for a two months visit. In television she returned home for 10 days. On television, too, some suspense business was introduced that the story lacks—to the benefit of the drama.

So the television version of "Beauty and the Beast" was genuinely a creative effort that utilized the best technical effects of the medium.

Garrett County Teachers Meet Tomorrow Afternoon

The Garrett County Teachers Association will meet tomorrow at Dennett Road Elementary School, near Oakland, beginning at 2 p. m.

All of the teachers first will meet together to hear an address by Dr. Ethel Alpenfels, a noted anthropologist at New York University's School of Education.

After her remarks, the teachers will split up into smaller groups to discuss particular phases of the teaching program. The topic for each group will be "What Determines What We Teach and When We Teach It?"

Theodore P. Foote, supervisor of art education in Allegany County public schools, will speak on art, and Frank E. Gamble, supervisor of music education here, will discuss music.

Miss Margaret Hamilton of the Frostburg State Teachers College faculty will discuss mathematics and Dr. Thomas Baucum, also a member of the college faculty, will speak about science.

The other participants in this unusual program are all state supervisors in various phases of education. Among them are Miss Evelyn Miller, state supervisor of home economics; Mrs. Mildred Sowers, state supervisor of elementary schools; Herschel M. James, state supervisor of industrial education; Herbert R. Steiner, state supervisor of physical education;

Kelly Workers Elect Heads Credit Union

The Kel-Co Federal Credit Union, comprised of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company employees, has elected Joseph Brandenburg president.

Other officers are Richard McClelland, vice president; Melvin E. Dye, secretary, and Clyde E. O'Baker, treasurer.

The officers were elected at a directors meeting which followed the annual membership meeting Saturday at the Rubber Workers Hall.

Elected to the board of directors at the meeting were Stanley Zorick, Floyd Grace, O'Baker, McClelland and Brandenburg. Holdover directors are Dye, A. J. Jenkins, H. R. Randolph, Arthur Young, Paul Bible and Paul Diehl.

Garnet Yost was elected to the supervisory committee of which Graydon S. Dunlap is the hold-over member.

Joseph B. Burke was elected to the credit committee, which includes A. E. Johnson and Rebecca Jones.

O'Baker reported assets of $147,157.05, compared to $52,914.31 a year ago, and member savings of $130,147.51, compared to last year's $42,145.57. Loans to members totaled $142,998.95, compared to last year's $51,817.63. There were 754 active members of the credit in the credit union.

On recommendation of the board of directors, members voted to pay five per cent dividends on share holdings.

French Youth Prefer Living In 20th Century

PARIS — (INS) — French youth has voted three-to-one in favor of the mid-Twentieth Century.

The victory for modern times emerged from the final portion of an elaborate survey conducted by the French Institute of Public Opinion for the Paris weekly "L'Express."

Fifty-three per cent said they were rather lucky, 18 per cent found themselves rather unlucky, and 29 per cent chose not to choose.

Do-it-yourself enthusiasts are spending about $60 million annually on tools for the home, reports a survey made by the Twentieth Century Fund.

Virginia Mine Will Reopen

CHARLESTON (AP) — Operation of the Pocahontas Fuel Co.'s mine at Amonate, Va., which claimed the lives of 11 miners on Dec. 27 in a gas explosion, will resume production within a week.

State Mines Chief Crawford Wilson said today that federal and state inspectors have removed the closure order issued after the explosion, in which 14 men escaped death.

Coal removed from the Amonate mine is taken into West Virginia near the McDowell County border, but Wilson explained that the explosion occurred in a portal located beneath Virginia soil.

Wilson had no comment on the progress of further investigation into the disaster.

Home gardeners in the U.S. spend more than 800 million dollars annually for seeds and potted plants.

Undeclared WVU Aims For Year's 13th Win

It's not impossible but highly improbable that the two fine basketball teams representing the University of Maryland and West Virginia will get together this season.

They're not scheduled to meet but a battle between the nationally-ranked neighboring colleges would be a certain sellout. In fact, they might even draw a bigger crowd than the record-breaking 15,100 who packed Cole Field House last Saturday night at College Park when the Terps toppled defending national champion North Carolina.

The Terrapins and Mountaineers hold victories over mutual powerhouses — North Carolina and Kentucky. Maryland, however, beat both teams at College Park whereas the West Virginia wins came on successive nights at the Kentucky Invitational Tournament last month.

Both WVU and Maryland also won over George Washington, the Colonials playing in each instance away from home. Bill Reinhart, GW's veteran coach, picks West Virginia as the stronger club. In fact, he calls the undefeated and top-ranked Mountaineers the best team George Washington has played all year.

The Mountaineers run into a real test tonight when they battle Pitt, their No. 1 all-time rival, in the home final of the Panthers. If WVU, which has had several close calls, happens to go down tonight, coach Fred Schaus won't say it was the result of the "13 jinx."

West Virginia has won 12 straight and Schaus has been quoted as saying he doesn't believe in such hoodoo talk. Past performances go out the window when the Mountaineers and Pitt clash, so Schaus would probably blame the spirited rivalry or some other reason for a setback tonight.

Incidentally, Jerry West, West Virginia's sophomore slacker, will play in his 39th consecutive winning game if the Mountaineers triumph at Pittsburgh.

West was on the 1955 East Bank High School quint which won nine straight games in taking the West Virginia Class A championship. He was also the big gun on last season's WVU undefeated freshman quint which won 17 decisions.

But the 1956-57 campaign wasn't the breeze that the perfect record may indicate. The WVU frosh won two games by one-point margins, one of those rip-roaring contests being a 92-91 decision over Potomac State at Keyser.

Other squeakers for the Little Mountaineers came in games with Wesleyan (72-70), Greenbrier Military (96-95), and West Virginia Tech reserves (78-75 and 92-90).

Sports Keg Residue

The 14 players who were chosen on the All-City football team this past fall will be guests of the Cumberland Breying Company at the tenth annual sports dinner of the Dapper Dan Club Sunday, January 26, at St. Mary's Hall. . . . The local brewing firm has been sponsoring the all-stars at the spectacle for the benefit of the Allegheny County League for Crippled Children for a number of years. . . . An Associated Press dispatch received yesterday by the Evening Times said that Oklahoma, Ohio and Texas were not members of the National Federation of High School Athletic Associations but Arthur G. Ramey declared today that this is not the case. Ramey, who has attended a number of meetings of the federation in distant parts of the country, said Oklahoma and Ohio have been members since 1924. . . . "affiliate." . . . Maryland, he added, didn't become a member until 1936. . . . The federation was formed in 1923 with Kansas, Minnesota, North Dakota, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan being the first states to join. . . . Ohio, it has been announced, will abide by the new conversion rule for college football and Ramey pointed out the Buckeye high schools may be experimenting for the federation. . . . "If Ohio schools find the rule to be a good one, it could be brought to a vote when the association meets next year," the Allegheny County Board of Education representative added. . . . Kenny Gray is sounding out Cumberland boxers of the past, amateur or pro, with regard to forming a "Pug Club." . . . He tentatively set Wednesday, January 29, as the date for an organizational meeting at his tavern on Virginia Avenue. "We hope to elect officers at that time," Gray said. . . . Anyone who has had one or more fights (in the ring, that is) will be eligible to join. . . . It is Kenny's idea to have a reunion once a year. . . . "We can all relive the past and perhaps do something about reviving the sport here."

PITTSBURGH (AP) — West Virginia, the nation's No. 1 collegiate basketball team, clashes with its No. 1 rival — Pitt — here tonight before a capacity crowd of more than 5,600 in the Pitt Field House.

The high riding and hopped up Mountaineers rode into town today on the crest of a 12-0 record which has earned them the top spot for the fourth consecutive week in the Associated Press national rankings.

"There's at least one good thing to be said about getting ready for Pitt," WVU Coach Fred Schaus declared. "I don't have to worry about getting the boys up for the game."

Pitt No. 1 Rival

Since before the turn of the century when the two schools started their athletic relationship, WVU has considered Pitt its No. 1 rival whether it be in basketball, football or ping pong.

The Mountaineers trail in the basketball series, 40-48, although they have won six of the last seven meetings between the two teams. WVU bounced the Panthers twice last year, 89-86 and 107-93.

Schaus tabbed this year's Pitt team stronger than last year's edition which featured sensational sophomore Don Hermon. Now a junior, the 5-8½ Hennon leads the Panthers in scoring with a 25-point average in 11 games.

Pegues Called Key Man

Despite Hennon's scoring talent, Schaus said he considered 6-3 Junior Pegues the key man for the Panthers. Pegues has averaged 17.3 points.

He plans to assign Don Vincent to guard Pegues. "Vincent has done a good job in handling Pegues before," Schaus said. "He knows his every move."

Schaus said Joey Gardner probably would be given the initial task of attempting to stop Hennon. "We'll see how the game goes," Schaus said. "I may alternate four men on Hennon. That's the way we used to do it in the pro ranks. As soon as a guarded man learns how his defender works, another defender would be assigned to him."

Pitt is 7-4 on the season, losing to Duquesne, Temple, St. Louis and Carnegie Tech. Against common opponents, the Panthers defeated George Washington, 68-59, the same team WVU whipped last Saturday, 93-66. Pitt thrashed Furman, 83-45, which lost to WVU, 103-68.

Pitt Coach Bob Timmons said the Mountaineers' all-around scoring balance is their greatest asset. "In previous years, if we stopped Huddle, we had a chance," Timmons declared. "Now you must stop five players."

Sold Out For Week

Timmons was referring to All-America Rod Hundley, who played three seasons for the Mountaineers. Hundley's appearance here last year is credited for producing Pitt's first sellout before game time.

Tonight's game, slated to get under way at 8:15 p.m. following a preliminary contest between the WVU and Pitt frosh, has been sold out for a week.

Schaus said that Jerry West was bothered with a slight virus infection and that Willie Akers suffered a pulled shoulder muscle but otherwise the team was in fine physical condition. Junior forward Bob Smith made a rapid recovery from an ankle injury suffered last week against Villanova and will lead the WVU fast break after a 15-point performance against GW.

Schaus plans to use his regular starting five of West and Smith at forwards, 6-10 Lloyd Sharrar in the pivot and Gardner and Vincent at guards.

WVU will knock off cage warfare for final examinations after tonight's game and will not return to action until Jan. 25 when the Mountaineers travel to Furman for a Southern Conference engagement.

Martinez 7 to 5 Favorite In Elimination Tonight

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Depending upon where you live, tonight's bout between Philadelphia's Gil Turner and Vince Martinez of Paterson, N. J., is or isn't a fight to earn a shot at the welterweight championship.

If you live in New York or in any place where the jurisdiction of the World Boxing Championship Committee is accepted as law, you'll merely be watching one of a series of eliminations to determine a titleholder.

If you live in Massachusetts you probably will watch the bout as just another fight of top welterweights.

If, however, you live in a state where boxing is under the National Amateur Boxing Assn., you will be witnessing the semifinal elimination in the 147-pound title series. The winner has been ordered by the NBA to fight Isaac Logart for the title vacated by Carmen Basilio after he won the middleweight crown from Sugar Ray Robinson.

The NBA says it will recognize the winner of a Turner, Martinez, Logart, Gaspar Ortega elimination series as champion. Logart beat Ortega and thus already has fought his way into the final.

The world committee, headed by Julius Helfand, New York State Athletic Commission chairman, says it will recognize the winner of a Martinez, Turner, Logart, Ortega, George Barnes, Virgil Atkins elimination series.

Massachusetts already has a welterweight champion of its own. He's Atkins, who defeated Tony DeMarco in Boston for the New England version of the title. Massachusetts seceded from the NBA when it refused to go along with Atkins.

Martinez, the clever boxer-puncher who has won 58 fights and lost only 5, is the favorite at about 7-5. The experts feel he will out-box the aggressive Turner and possibly could win by a knockout if the Philadelphia Negro gets careless as he sometimes is prone to do.

Turner has won 55, lost 15 and drawn in 1. ABC will telecast the fight.

VMI Upends Spider Quint

By The Associated Press

Virginia Military Institute, virtually conceded last place in the Southern Conference basketball race as late as the first of the year, may turn the fight for the last two berths in the circuit's annual tournament into a free-for-all.

The Key dets whipped Richmond's Spiders last night 86-62 in one of the biggest upsets in Virginia in the last 10 years for their first conference victory in five years.

If VMI is capable of beating Richmond, even at home, the Keydets now must be conceded some chance of making a battle of it with Davidson. Furman and Washington & Lee for the last two tournament berths.

Ralph Lawson, hitting 10 of his 15 shots from the floor, poured in 23 points in leading the Keydets to their victory.

It was the only game scheduled last night for conference teams and it dropped Richmond to now 5-3 in the league) to fourth place.

Tonight's action features two games — William & Mary (3-3) at George Washington (1-2) in a conference scrap and the nation's No. 1 team, unbeaten West Virginia, at Pitt.

No Reserved Seats For Alco City Tilts

Tickets for the intra-city basketball games at Allegany High will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis with no reserved seat sale. The Campers play Fort Hill at home Friday and meet LaSalle at home in their final game, February 23.

No Prospects In Sight For Aggies' Post

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M was shopping for a football coach again today after Navy's Eddie Erdelatz bowed out with an angry blast at Aggie representatives over the way his visit was arranged.

Erdelatz was the sixth coach mentioned for the $16,000-a-year job and the fifth to visit the campus. No prospects are in sight.

Erdelatz's dispute was with Jack Finney, chairman of the coach selection committee of the college board of directors.

Finney Lacks Authority
"I am going to remain at Navy," Erdelatz told newsmen. He said he felt A&M didn't follow proper protocol in dealing with him.

The Dallas News quoted him as saying he had learned that the selection committee had more authority in hiring a coach than President M. T. Harrington and the athletic council.

"If I'd known that I wouldn't have come," Erdelatz was quoted as saying. "But you know I'm a stranger here."

Erdelatz said a condition of his visit was that the college contact Rear Adm. William R. Smedberg, III, superintendent of the Naval Academy to get permission for him to come here. He said he learned after his arrival that this had not been done. He said Finney had talked with Capt. Smedberg, but insisted this was not sufficient.

Telegram Decides

Finney later issued a statement saying he tried in vain to contact President Harrington so he could secure permission of Adm. Smedberg.

"Mr. Erdelatz agreed to come to Texas to talk to our athletic council and after talking to them they were interested in offering him the job and he was interested in accepting it, then his admiral would be called," Finney said. "We thought that was the proper procedure."

Erdelatz said he made up his mind to bow out after receiving a telegram from midshipmen urging him to stay at the Naval Academy.

Northern Rally Topples Bayard

A second-half spurt and superiority at the foul line gave Northern High a 56-50 victory over Bayard last night at Accident. The Huskies, who have won five of eight starts, were out goaled 23-22, but hooped 12 of 19 charity tosses to four of 11 for the invaders.

Jim Overby and Ward Humberston paced the winners with 21 and 19 points. Ronnie Kuhn, leading scorer for Bayard, flipped in 17 for the losing cause.

The Northern Jayvees also won the preliminary, whipping Bayard's JV's, 30-29.

Ridgeley, Piedmont To Tangle Tonight

Ridgeley High's cagers, fighting to keep their Potomac Valley Conference title chances alive, and Piedmont, racing for its fourth crown in the past six campaigns, have their postponed battle tonight on the Lions' court. Tipoff time is 8 o'clock.

The Lions, who have swept over five loop opponents to date, will also be out to run their overall win streak to six games. Coach "Huck" Miers' club has dropped only one contest—a 53-48 loss to Valley High—in eight starts. The Lions averaged that setback with a 40-36 decision in the return fray.

The Hawks have been hot and cold this season, coach Tom O'Connor's crew sporting a 3-3 conference mark and a 6-4 season log.

Both clubs have high scorers who rate with the tops in the area. "Bones" Taylor (113) and Dick Nolan (91) of the Lions are in the top dozen district point producers.

Hawks Have 'Big Three'

The Hawks have a "big three" with Dave Baker (104); Bill Scott (91) and Mike Detrick (89) doing the brunt of the Ridgeley tally-making.

The Hawks have shown power with victories over a strong Keyser five, 58-54; Elk Garden, 50-39, III, superintendent of the Naval Academy to get permission for him to come here. He said he learned after his arrival that this had not been done. He said Finney had talked with Capt. Smedberg, but insisted this was not sufficient.

The Lions have had no close calls in compiling their undefeated loop record, whipping Elk Garden, 70-47; Southern of Oakfield, 63-35; Petersburg, 70-50; Fort Ashby, 69-51, and Moorefield, 71-53.

Tonight's game was pushed back from last night when an official was unable to work the game because of an illness. Three other Ridgeley tilts have been rescheduled because of the lack of whistle tooters on Tuesday nights.

The Piedmont at Ridgeley game has been changed from Tuesday, January 21, to Monday, January 20. Mt. Savage will play at Ridgeley on Monday, January 27, instead of Tuesday, January 28, and Beal is at Ridgeley, Monday, February 17, instead of Tuesday, January 18.

Keyser Beats Fort Ashby
In last night's action, Fort Ashby dropped valuable ground in the race as the Eagles were beaten, 63-56, by Keyser while Romney gained with a 45-42 decision over Moorefield and Berkeley Springs moved Capon Bridge deeper in the standings with a 69-48 triumph.

No reports were received on the scheduled contests between Franklin at Elk Garden, Petersburg at Mathias and West Virginia Deaf at Paw Paw.

Keyser shoved its PVC mark to five wins in seven attempts while the Eagles were falling for the third time in eight loop tilts. The Eagles kept it close until the

Old Germans Seeking Sixth Straight Win

The second-division quint in the City Basketball League have a chance of tightening the tie tonight when taking on the two clubs in the six-team circuit.

Old Germans, unbeaten in five games, will oppose Knights of Columbus on the arver court in the lidifier at 7 o'clock while Forty & Eight tangles with Turner Moose at 8:30.

The Hermans ran all even the Casey's, 105-50, with a strong second-half in their first encounter. The Knights had kept it close until after the intermission.

The Casey's are tied with Chaney's Transportation in fourth place with two wins and four losses.

Moose, runnerup to the Hermans and a game off the pace with a 4-1 record, will be after its second win over the Forty & Eighters. The LOOMen had little trouble in snaring the first class, 73-47.

Forty & Eight has yet to win in six starts and are two games behind the Casey's and Chaney's in the circuit cellar.

Elroy Hirsch Retires From Pro Football

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Elroy (Crzylegs) Hirsch, one of football's great escape artists, is quitting the game that once nearly robbed him of his fantastic coordination and later helped him become a movie star.

The great Los Angeles end, described accurately as a man who appeared to run downfield at two different angles simultaneously, said yesterday that he has accepted the position of sports director of the Union Oil Co. He will have his own sports show and run the company's youth program.

Hirsch's retirement came as a surprise to the Rams, and when the surprise wears off it may be succeeded by a headache. For Elroy is the second Ram star to compose his swan song in the past two weeks. Veteran quarterback Norm Van Brocklin was the first.

Elroy began his football career in 1933 at Wausau, Wis., High School, played at Wisconsin in 1941 and 1942, then transferred to Michigan, where in 1943 he won letters in four major sports, football, basketball, baseball and track. For three years, beginning in 1946, he was with the Chicago Hornets in the old All-America Pro League. In 1949, he joined the Rams.

There was a turning point in Elroy's career, it came before the 1951 season, when he suffered a depressed fracture of the cheekbone in an exhibition game. The injury damaged his coordination and a doctor advised him to quit football.

Although at first he was unable even to catch a lob pass, Elroy decided to prove he wasn't finished. The proof was eloquent.

In 1951, he was the NFL's leading pass receiver.

Lot Would Keep Redlegs In Ohio

CINCINNATI, O. (INS)—Cincinnati Redleg owner Powell Crosley Jr. is willing to sign a proposed contract to remain in the Ohio city for five years if a proposal to add 2,600-car parking facilities to Crosley Field is approved.

The conditional agreement came in a telegram last night from Crosley who is in New York and was sent to Willis Gradison, chairman of the contract committee of the Hamilton County Stadium Advisory Committee.

The committee has recommended that two million dollars be spent in adding the necessary parking facilities in land adjoining the stadium. The County Council now must act on the proposal.

Crosley was asked what would happen after the five-year contract is up and said, "I've already stated that if they would provide a stadium, I would favor a 20-year lease by the Cincinnati Redlegs."

WMI Leaders Win In Close Cage Race

Front-running Allegany High and the tied runnersup, Fort Hill and Valley, kept pace in the close Western Maryland Interscholastic League basketball race last night by chalking up triumphs over the circuit's second-division quints.

league winds up its first-half of play.

Campers Stay Hot

Alco continued its hot shooting that began in the second half of the tilt against Valley last Friday as the Campers hit for 28 of 57 attempts from the field in setting down Bruce, 72-65, at Westernport.

The Sentinels kept up their bucket barrage in whipping Mt. Savage, 69-51, at Savage. Valley snapped back from its loss to Allegany with a 10-point, 61-51 victory over Beall at Detmold. The win was the fourth in as many tries for Allegany with the Sentinels and Black Knights staying deadlocked for the runnerup slot by notching their third wins against a single setback.

When the Campers and Sentinels meet Friday night the contest will also have important bearings on three other basketball races.

In addition to first place in the WMI, Alco and the Red Raiders will launch the city three-cornered race, clash for positions in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League and also go after the lead for the County Class A standings.

The Sentinels (3-1) are runner-up in the CVAL behind pacing Frederick (4-1) while Alco has a 1-2 mark in the three-state setup. In Class A, of which Allegany is the defending champion, both have won over Beall for their only starts. Alco is also the defending king in the city race.

Alco, which has had trouble getting off to a good first half, kept hot all evening against the Bulldogs as four starters hit for double digits and accounted for all but five of the locals' production.

Shook Paces Attack

Gary Shook, who had trouble finding the net against Valley, missed only five attempts from the field in 15 tries and finished with the top total for the evening by potting 26 points, six of his markers coming from a perfect night at the free-throw line.

The total shoved Shook's league-leading total to 94 points or an average of 23.5 in four games and a 20-point edge over runnerup George Lauder of Valley.

Gary Frisby, Glenn Davis and Jack Cook also continued their stellar play for the Campers with Frisby accounting for 17 tallies, Davis chipping in with 13 and Cook coming up with 11.

Lynn Morris of the Bulldogs again led Bruce in scoring, the veteran forward netting 21 points on 10 of 21 shots from the field.

Unclaimed' Player Back As Top Coach

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Alex Hannum was on pro basketball's bargain counter just a little over a year ago.

Today the big, balding holler guy from California is the No. 1 coach in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn.

His St. Louis Hawks still have a comfortable 7½ game lead in the division, even after losing a full game of their margin as the result of a doubleheader in St. Louis last night.

To Coach West

Cincinnati, runnerup in the West, beat New York 117-111 and Philadelphia beat the Hawks 110-109.

Since his team leads the division, Hannum will coach the West in the NBA's annual All-Star game next Tuesday night in the St. Louis Arena.

This honor is the latest chapter in his amazing comeback story.

After eight seasons as a top defensive player, the 6-foot-7 Hannum a year ago was just one small step from being out of the NBA.

Released by Fort Wayne, unclaimed and apparently unwanted, Alex was discouraged as he sat out the two-day waiver period in Fort Wayne.

Hawks Start To Fly

Red Holzman, then coaching the Hawks, called Hannum and said he could use him in St. Louis. In a few weeks, Holzman was out and Slater Martin took charge of the floundering club.

But little Slater would rather play than coach and in a week the players voted "Old Sarge" their coach. Owner Ben Kerner went along with them and under Hannum the Hawks started to roll.

Stamping his feet and waving towels, he drove them to the Western Division title. The Hawks carried the favored Boston Celtics through two overtime of the deciding seventh game of the title playoffs before losing.

Hannum has been even more effective this season. St. Louis lost three of its first four games, then started taking the division apart. The Hawks have won three out of every four since then.

St. Louis Kegler Tops Qualifiers

MINNEAPOLIS (INS)—Tom Hennessey of St. Louis turned in a 1,400 score last night to lead the final qualifying round in the All-Star Bowling Tournament.

Despite a foul in his fifth game, Hennessey finished with 224 and then spared, got 10 strikes for a 288 and a 5,177 total for 24 games. He also fashioned a high game of 290 earlier in the qualifying round. His 1,400 was three pins short of the record 1,503 turned in by Chuck O'Donnell, also of St. Louis, in 1950.

Morris Cramer of Albany, N. Y., was second. The two-day leader skidded to a 1,137 for a 5,052 pin total. Third was Buzz Fazio of St. Louis with 1,255 for a 5,042 total.

O'Neal Leads Sentinels

The Sentinels also had four cagers hit in double figures in the 18-point decision over Mt. Savage. "Junior" O'Neal was the offensive star with 24 points while Charles Robinson came up with 17, Donnie Lewis caged 13 and Jerry Meeks 11 for 65 of the Red Raiders' final points.

The Hilltoppers, like their city rival, have been showing a hot second-half display and continued to do so last night. Mt. Savage, winless in WMI play for four games, had been close, 52-45, in the fourth quarter when the Sentinels reeled off 12 straight points to win easily.

Harold Brautnick had 13 markers for the Indians while Wayne Fleegle and Bill Burkett shared 20 counters.

LaSalle 'Hot-Shots' Remain Undefeated

LaSalle High's talented Explorers passed the first half of their basketball schedule with a straight-A average, the unbeaten charges of coach George Geatz putting on a dazzling shooting exhibition last night in racking up Hyndman, 78-43, for their 11th victory.

The area's last remaining undefeated quint now has the "meat" part of its slate in front of it within the next ten days.

Idle until next Tuesday, the Explorers then play the first of their "crosstal" three games by opposing Fort Hill in their city fray on the Sentinel hardwoods. Then a week from Friday, the North Centre Streeters are hosts to Allegany.

After those two important battles, LaSalle hits the road on Tuesday, January 21, for the return go against Valley in Detmold. LaSalle launched its season with a 65-50 win over the Black Knights.

If the Green Wave is able to continue the shooting display exhibited against the Hornets on the SS. Peter and Paul boards last night an unbeaten season is not entirely impossible.

Shoot Near .500

In 78 attempts from the floor, the Blue and Gold found the range 36 times for a lofty .462 average. Nine of the first 10 field goal tries swished through the nets while in the third period only five of 18 failed to hit the target.

Despite the final 35-point victory, the contest was close throughout the first half with the Keystone Staters catching up at 24-all on Gary Lehman's foul conversion. Lehman had a chance of putting his club in front but missed his second try.

A 26-point third period put the game out of reach and ended the Hornets' chances for an upset. Charlie Howell, continuing to substitute for injured pivotman Dick Winfield who suited up but did not play, stuffed in three quick goals and Dickie Garlitz added a pair to widen the edge, 45-26, with only 1:15 gone in the period.

In command, 61-34, at the third-quarter whistle, coach George Geatz had a chance to substitute freely and reserves finished out most of the last stanza. The subs were able to connect only but seven of 19 chances from the floor to cut down the final average. Despite this, LaSalle banged in 20 of 37 in the last half.

Wesleyan Ties Tech For Lead In Conference

By The Associated Press
West Virginia Tech, with a wary eye on co-State Conference leader Wesleyan Wesleyan, takes on the Camp Lejeune Marines in basketball tonight while the Bobcats open a three-game invasion of the Northern Panhandle.

Wesleyan moved into a two-way deadlock with Tech for the conference lead on the strength of last night's 73-61 victory over Alcorn-Broadus.

Both Have 9-0 Records
Tech and Wesleyan both own identical 9-0 records in conference competition and judging from past performances, it looks as if nobody in the loop will be able to stop either of the two powerhouses until they meet each other. The two teams are not scheduled to meet until February when they meet in a two-game series.

Meanwhile, Wesleyan stands a good chance to take over sole possession of the league lead by the end of the week. Starting on Wednesday, the Bobcats will play on successive nights, Bethany (5-2), Wheeling (1-4) and West Liberty (6-3). Tech, on the other hand has only one conference game this week, a Thursday home affair with Glenville State (4-4).

A-B (4-7) travels to Salem (1-0) in the only conference tilt on the Wednesday card while Bluefield State, 6-4 overall, plays at Virginia Union.

Marines Beat Glenville
Tech will run up against a Marine team that owns a 17-2 record, including two successive triumphs over state college quints. The Marines nipped Glenville State, 85-84, last night after whipping Concord, 77-67, the night before.

In Tuesday league games, Morris Harvey, sparked by Albert Cook's 30 points, had trouble subduing stubborn Concord, 82-78. Fairmont State surprised West Liberty, 81-62, and Davis & Elkins handed embattled Salem its 10th straight loss, 82-61.

In non-league contests, Shepherd bowed to Shippensburg, Pa. 70-62, and Bluefield State absorbed a 67-48 thumping from Virginia State.

Wesleyan's 6-10 Ken Remley, playing only his second year of college ball, was the key man for the Bobcats in the A-B victory. Remley grabbed 23 rebounds and dunked 27 points, including 17 in the second half.

Beaver Trapping Fee Is Waived

CHARLESTON (AP) — There was a heartening innovation for trappers as the beaver season opened today in West Virginia.

The Monongahela National Forest is waiving its $1 beaver trapping unit fee for this season because of the current low prices for pelts.

The beaver season opened at 8 a.m. and continues until Feb. 28. Trappers will need a $2 resident statewide license.

A trapping unit such as that allotted in the national forest is an area assigned to a trapper in which he has the exclusive right to seek beaver. The Conservation Department said that forest supervisor E.M. Oliver decided to waive the fee in the Monongahela domain, with the department's approval.

Whitacre and Gary Triggs had 11 and 10 for Capon. The loss was Capon's third, putting them at the 500 mark while Berkeley bagged its first victory after one defeat.

Slav Runner Set For Mile Test In U.S.

By TONY GALLI
NEW YORK (INS) — Velisa Mugosa is a swarthy young middle-distance champion from Yugoslavia, who has never raced on boards before but is confident of matching strides Saturday with the hottest indoor mile in the world.

The 26-year-old University of Belgrade student makes his American debut in the Knights of Columbus Games in Boston and his top opponent is Ron Delany.

Delany Unbeaten
Ireland's Olympic 1,500-meter champion is unbeaten in three years of mile racing on boards as a Villanova student and heads a field which also includes defending champion Phil Coleman of the Chicago Track Club; Jim Beatty, North Carolina graduate now in the Army at Fort Jackson, S. C., and Burr Grim of Maryland.

Mugosa doesn't speak a word of English but through his interpreter he left no doubt yesterday that he intends to give Delany a run for his medals.

"I consider it a great honor to compete in the leading sports nation in the world," said Mugosa. "I have been training two months for this trip. I came here to run."

Forced Out By Injury
Mugosa, a husband and father who is majoring in philosophy and geography, had to halt his training for an appendectomy in September but otherwise thinks he's ready to run against Delany.

Mugosa ran against the fleet Irishman in the Olympic games at Melbourne but a foot injury caused him to quit the race.

Mugosa has run 1,500 meters in three minutes, 43 seconds, which is the quality equivalent of a four-minute mile. He also holds the Yugoslavian championships in the 3,000 (8:04) and 5,000 (13:58), and none of his countrymen have succeeded in beating him over any of these distances in the past five years.

He will run both the mile and the two-mile and perhaps in one three-mile on his visit here.

Two other foreigners were due today for the indoor season, Miller Zbigniew Orywal and high-jumper Zbigniew Lewandowski, both of Poland. Orywal will compete in the 1,000 Saturday against Villanova's Charley Jenkins, Olympic 40-meter king.

Finland's Eeles Landstrom will compete with ex-Villanova Don Bragg and Jerry Welbourn of the Ohio Track Club in the pole vault.

Lauder and Green shared scoring honors with 16 points each while "Hank" Winner contributed 11 points and Dave Hobe 10. George Allen had the night's high with 17 for the Mounties. Jack Parker netted 10 for the invaders who now have a 1-3 league record.

In the preliminary games, Allegany's JVs won over Bruce, 48-43, and Mt. Savage's junior varsity whipped Fort Hill, 59-41.

Grin And Bear It

Ibbotson's Record Mile Not Approved

LONDON (INS) — Britain's grounds that they were achieved aid of pacemakers and that Step-

Derek Ibbotson, whose record mile run failed to win approval from the International Amateur Athletic Federation, faced the situation today with a "grin and bear it" attitude.

The IAAF, which yesterday approved 33 new marks as world records, refused to okay new standards for the mile, 1,600 meters and the high jump on the basis of Ibbotson's record.

Ibbotson ran a mile in 3:57.2 in London. Czechoslovakia's Stanislaw Jungwirth turned in a 3:38.1 clocking for the 1,600-meters and Yuri Stepanov of Russia made a seven foot, 12-inch high jump.

Ibbotson, speaking at a club last night, joked about the situation.

"You've got to give people time," he said. "It's only seven months since I broke the record and you can't expect things too quickly."

"We keep hoping that eventually we shall get that world record."

It has been claimed that Ibbotson and Jungwirth ran with the aid of pacemakers and that Step-anov jumped with the Russian developed "elevated" shoe on his take-off foot.

Among the marks the federation accepted as world records were the pole vault of 15 feet, 8 1/4 inches made last April by Bob Gutowski of Occidental College, and the clocking of 1:46.8 for the 880-yard run set by Tom Courtney of Fordham on May 27.

State Groups Protest Hiring 'Skilled Heads'

Retirement Units Decline To Expand Board Of Trustees

BALTIMORE (AP) — The boards of trustees for three State retirement systems have protested a Legislative Council proposal to expand each board with three members "skilled in financial management."

The opposition was expressed yesterday in a joint meeting of the Teachers Retirement System, the Employees Retirement System and the State Police Retirement System.

A Legislative Council subcommittee headed by Del. Whitmore (D-Annapolis) had urged employment of a skilled investment administrator in addition to the three persons who would act as a finance committee with each retirement system.

Under the recommendation, the finance committees would sit with all three boards and its members technically would be members of each board.

The boards of trustees yesterday supported a suggestion by State Treasurer Hooper S. Miles that the Board of Public Works appoint a non-paid, non-voting advisory committee "to assist the trustees in the supervision of investment portfolios."

Miles and State Comptroller J. Millard Taves announced opposition to the council plan. The two State officials, along with Gov. McKeldin, make up the Board of Public Works and also are on all three retirement boards.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Editor's Note: Worried wife of charming spendthrift asks how to cope with his weakness.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Bill and I have been married four years, have a baby son and expect another child next April. Bill is considerate, we never argue and he would give me the moon if he could. . . . But we have a problem that is driving me crazy. Bill spends money like water; and is always losing jobs. . . . As of today we owe $2,000, long overdue; and hardly a day goes by that two or three creditors don't call, threatening to sue. When I mention it to Bill he just nods, but he doesn't pay, as he is out of work again. He has spent $250 in the last 10 days on clothes for himself and taxi fares. . . . I have tried not to push him about money. I never buy anything for myself—except one memento dress in four years. What few clothes I have were gifts from my family or his; and even the baby's clothes are gifts from them too.

Hasn't yet developed up to the level of his age or IQ. He is naturally gifted; but as unschooled in the disciplines of adult competence as any 3-year-old child would be.

His improvident grab for the niceties of life that he can't afford isn't so much a psychological quirk, ingrained by early deprivation, as you seem to think. Rather it is simply a bad habit by now—a form of self-indulgence that he's been getting away with.

In the beginning, this performance represented sinuous pure irresponsibility—a childish shortsighted operation, selfish and hopeful. An attitude of "wanting what he wants when he wants it"—regardless of who pays. And carelessly having his way, insofar as he can—on the unconscious theory (the child's megalomania feeling) that "everything is sure to turn out fine for me."

Hard Prospect Confronts Wife

On this theory he has married, begot children, run into debt, etc., never really accepting responsibility (in his own mind) for his actions—always assuming, as you say, that somehow the ordinary ground rules won't apply to him. That he will get magic help from somewhere.

In the state from which you write, psychiatric help is available. Bill could afford, if he would apply to a mental hygiene clinic. But he probably won't.

As for how you can help him, I feel that you can't. So the question is, rather, how to achieve some stability for the children's sake? My advice is to wake up and realize that you are building on sand, in depending upon Bill. After your second child is some establish yourself as a reliable income producer. A hard prospect, yes; but preferable to the boat you're in.

—M.H.

She's Hounded By Creditors

The hospital and the doctor aren't paid yet for the baby's birth; and I am ashamed to go back to my doctor with this second pregnancy until I've paid him for the first. Also I think I'll lose my mind if I have to listen to one more threatening creditor. . . . Bill tells me to go buy clothes if I need them, but I'd rather die without than have a debt hanging over me. And I never have cash for shopping. Bill gives me money for groceries and rent, and that's all.

He was raised in the Bronx and his family never had enough to eat in his first 10 years. I realize this has almost everything to do with his urge to spend, and to own expensive things; but what can we do about it? He knows he spends too much but always seems to think something will turn up, to enable him to pay—and it never does.

If he needs psychiatric help, we can't afford it. Is there some way I can help him. . . . P.F.

Man's Captive To Bad Habit

DEAR P.F.: You say Bill has an IQ of 138—but had to drop out of college due to failing grades. And that he has been fired from six jobs in the last four years, because he "couldn't concentrate on the work at hand." Well, this is a picture of a man who needs psychiatric help to get the monkey wrench out of his mental processes.

Could be that he has a reading disability, that completely fouls up his intelligence. Has he ever had this possibility checked? The condition may be rapidly overcome, once a correct diagnosis is made.

However, part of his trouble, as I see it, is that his character

68 Per Cent Rise Noted In Jobless Total

Employment Gains Not Sufficient To Offset '57 Losses

BALTIMORE (AP) — The number of persons out of jobs in Maryland in November of 1957 was about 68 per cent greater than the figure for the same month of 1956.

The State Department of Employment Security reported yesterday that as of the middle of November last year, 42,300 were unemployed. This was 17,100 higher than a year earlier.

In the past 12 months, the report stated, there were significant employment gains in wholesale and retail trade, State and local government and the services industries. However, it added, these were not enough to make up for losses in manufacturing lines.

Average earnings were $2.09 an hour in November of last year, and one per cent less for October.

The department said total employment also dropped while the numbers of unemployed were increasing. The total was 880,900 in mid-November, or a net loss of 5,400 since September and 7,300 under the figure for November 1956.

Judges File For Primary

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Two judges from Western Maryland have filed for nomination to new 15-year terms.

They are Court of Appeals Judge Stedman Prescott and Circuit Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer, long-time friends from the Sixth Judicial Circuit.

Both put down filing money for the Republican and Democratic nominations in the May 20 primary, but it cost Judge Prescott $350 compared with $50 for Judge Schnauffer. Judge Prescott, a resident of Rockville, paid fees of $25 to register on both tickets in the seven-county Third Appellate Circuit.

For Judge Schnauffer, the fee was $50 for renomination in Frederick County.

Another candidate for the Sixth Judicial Circuit bench filed for both party nominations yesterday. He was James H. Pugh, Rockville attorney who is seeking the Montgomery County Circuit Court seat now held by Judge John Reeves.

Local MD Unit Closes Appeal

The Allegany-Garrett County Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association has ended its annual financial drive and the MD canisters are being collected.

Chief Virgil A. Parker yesterday was busy checking over the numbers of the canisters which were picked up by Edgar Bucy of the City Fire Department. The rest of the canisters are expected to be collected by today or tomorrow.

Volunteer fire companies of Allegany and Garrett counties which cooperated again this year in the annual drive are asked to collect the canisters in their areas this week and forward the donations to Chief Parker at Central Fire Station.

Chief Parker pointed out that the money will be taken to the Second National Bank for a final count and a check will be drawn by Albert Doub, president of the Allegany-Garrett County Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, and forwarded to national headquarters in New York.

Arraignment Set On Murder Count

BALTIMORE (AP) — Albert Clark Brechtel, 51-year-old father of nine children, was to be arraigned today on a charge of murdering a neighbor woman.

Police accused Brechtel of the crime yesterday following extensive questioning of the defendant. The body of Linda Lawrence, 35, an attractive brunette, was found in her apartment last Saturday. Police went there after receiving a phone call telling them, "Go to 7 West Preston Street and you'll find a corpse."

Police said the woman had been strangled with a belt.

Maryland GOP Dinner Monday In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — State Republican leaders put the final touches to plans for Monday's $50-a-plate fund raising dinner in a planning session here yesterday.

The main in-person speaker will be Gov. McKeldin. Later the GOP brass will see President Eisenhower deliver a speech on a closed circuit telecast. More than 60 such meetings are scheduled throughout the nation.

Commission Proposes Larger Salisbury

SALISBURY (AP) — To meet future growing pains, the Wicomico Area Survey Commission suggested today that Salisbury be merged with the county within a five-mile radius of the city.

The final 267-page report of the commission concluded that the county's population will be 52,500 in 1960 and an estimated 77,000 by 1990.

Tests Set On Coast Waters

BALTIMORE (AP) — What effect will nuclear-powered ships and ocean dumping of radioactive wastes have on waters near the coast?

The Coast and Geodetic Survey hopes to find that out with the beginning of tests in Atlantic waters next week.

A 100-foot former quarantine boat, the Mariner, was converted at Curtis Bay yards here for the tests which will first check the speed of currents and flow of fresh and salt water in New York Bay. Later similar inspections will be made in Delaware Bay and in the Chesapeake, off Baltimore.

Salisbury Cook Shot At Drive-In

SALISBURY (AP) — Allen McIntyre, 33-year-old cook at a Salisbury drive-in restaurant, was fatally injured yesterday on U. S. 13 about one mile north of the city.

City police said McIntyre was driving south about 4 o'clock and had reached an overpass when he struck a parked car on the right, careened across the highway and struck a pickup truck being driven by Lankford M. Anderson of Salisbury.

McIntyre died about 8:30 last night in Peninsula General Hospital. His car was demolished. Anderson was treated for minor injuries and released.

Departing Secretary Feted By YMCA Staff

Lawrence R. Dehn, program secretary for Central YMCA, who leaves tomorrow to assume a similar position in Virginia, was honored by approximately 20 members of the 'Y' staff at a dinner Monday evening.

B. U. Smith, general secretary, presided at the affair, and James Fortner, physical director, presented Dehn with an attache case on behalf of the staff.

Pedestrians Can Also Be Problem

DENVER (INS) — Speeding cars are dangerous but "speeding pedestrians" must share some of the blame for accidents.

The Colorado Highway Safety Council warned that pedestrians should also consider their own stopping distance, just as drivers must.

Although speed on the part of the pedestrian isn't often a contributing factor in an auto-pedestrian accident, it sometimes does happen.

The council said pedestrians do go too fast for conditions on occasion — such as on ice or snow. The pedestrian is out in the middle of the street on slick foot before he realizes he is in danger. If a car is coming he tries to stop and turn, and ends up in a hospital.

Bowling Green Fire Company To Install

Officers of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company and auxiliary unit will be installed today at 7:30 p. m. at the fire hall.

Attending the joint installation will be officers of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Edward Ruppenkamp will be installed president of the volunteers while Mrs. John Costa will be installed president of the auxiliary unit.

Wife Of Former State Fish Official Dies

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Mrs. Nellie Hughes Creighton, wife of a former assistant to the Tidewater Fisheries Commissioner, died last night in a Cambridge hospital.

Her husband, Amos Creighton, 71, went into the real estate business after retiring from the Tidewater Fisheries Commission in July of 1955.

West Virginia Mental Health Meeting Tonight

CHARLESTON (AP) — William T. Beatty, assistant director of the New York Society for Mental Health, is scheduled to address a dinner here this evening of the State Association for Mental Health.

Roy A. Cunningham of Beckley, president of the state society, earlier had said at least 13 Southern West Virginia counties were expected to send delegations to the meeting.

"Never mind the act, Sis! You know very well she's the one who keeps calling me about homework problems!"

Utility Rate Jump Facing Baltimore

Increase Of Six And One Half Per Cent Proposed To PSC

BALTIMORE—The Baltimore Gas and Electric Co. proposed today to increase its rates so it may collect nearly 10 million dollars more this year.

It wants to increase average electric and gas bills 6 1/2 per cent and steam 10 per cent.

The new rates will go into effect Feb. 15 if approved by the Public Service Commission.

J. Theodore Wolfe, company president, estimated the proposed rates would:

1. Increase the average residential electric bill from $6.79 to $7.18 a month.

2. Increase the average gas bill—not used for heating—from $3.73 to $4.06 a month.

3. Increase the average gas heating bill from $102 to $108.80 a year.

Two special changes in the rate structure are being asked. The minimum monthly charge for gas would be raised from $1.10 to $1.25 and for electric from 58 cents to $1.25.

Heavy users of electricity also would pay more. The charge for each kilowatt hour in excess of 300 would go up from $1.56 to $1.75.

School Bill Introduced In Assembly

Measure Supported By West Virginia Education Group

CHARLESTON — A bill embracing a West Virginia Education Assn. school support program was introduced into the Senate today by Education Committee Chairman Traubert (D-Brooke).

The proposal would add to basic school foundation program costs about seven million dollars in state aid and $3,200,000 raised at the local level.

The WVEA says that its highly technical proposal would use a generally new approach to the foundation school support plan, but it in no way would change the principal factors of the present state aid distribution formula.

About eight million dollars in still additional state aid would be required for a second phase of the WVEA program — an incentive school support approach to induce counties to increase local support of public education.

State money for that purpose could be boosted an additional $1,200,000 if all of the counties levied permissive property and personal school taxes, the WVEA explained.

In some aspects, the WVEA proposal is similar to an incentive plan advanced earlier by State School Supt. R. Virgil Rohrbough and embraced in bills already introduced into both House and Senate.

The WVEA bill also was introduced into the House by Education Chairman Vennari (D-Raleigh), along with the Underwood administration's personal income tax bill designed to finance Rohrbough's incentive program.

Introduced by Minority Leader Seibert (R-Ohio), the levy measure would amend the existing gross sales tax to provide a one-

Virginia Seeking Money For Educational Needs

RICHMOND, Va. — A sought later to meet the 15 million dollar appropriation to the Literary Fund requested by Almond.

Almond told his press conference yesterday he was exploring to determine whether money can be found to give school teachers a salary boost beyond the $100 a year proposed by Gov. Stanley.

And in position for action in the Senate was emergency legislation to put 10 million dollars into the Literary Fund immediately for school construction loans to the localities.

The appropriation was requested in the outgoing Stanley administration's budget to the General Assembly and was provided for in a bill by Sen. Thomas H. Blanton of Bowling Green. The Senate Finance Committee gave its approval to the legislation, which would transfer the money from the general fund surplus.

Committee action on the bill came with the understanding another 5 million dollars would be
